THE WRONG MAN.

Belief That a Man Lynched Two Years Ago Was Innocent.

EATONTOWN, N. J., Feb. 27.—Richard Kearney, a burly colored man, employed by Mrs. Lyddy, of N. w York, in her cottage at Long Branch, was arrested recently for an outrageous assault on Mrs. Purtell, the housekeeper. It is now believed that he is guilty of the crime for which an old colored man, known as Mingo Jack, was lynched two years ago.

It is even rumored that he has confessed that such is the case. Mingo Jack's real name was Samuel Johnson, and he was arrested on March 5, 1886, on the charge of having outraged Miss Angelina Herbert, the twenty-four-year-old daughter of Henry Herbert, of this place. There was no direct evidence connecting him with the crime. Even his victim failed to identify him when he was brought before her. Circumstances were strongly against him, however, and he bore a very bad reputation. Johnson was locked up in the little county jail and left without a guard. During the night the jail was broken into and Johnson taken out and lynched.

Reduced Rates.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 27.—Colonel Nettleton has reduced freight rates one-half on classes one, two, three and four, 25 cents to 10 cents on class four. His cuts effect all stations on the Kansas City, Fort Scott and Gulf and Kansas City, Springfield and Clinton roads.

The new Wayne hotel will be opened Thursday, in all probability.

Ohio Tally Sheet Case.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—The tally sheet forgery cases were adjourned over until to-morrow morning, owing to the inability of Prosecuting Attorney Huling to appear. Steube, the defendant, who made the assault on Huling was arraigned for contempt of court and placed under bond for his appearance Wednesday morning.

The president's coat pocket protruded so much at the recent Florida fishing that some one asked the reason why. "It's only a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup," the handsome gentleman explained: "I never travel a mile without it."

AN EXPLOSION.

Seriously Wounds Two Men at Buffalo, N. Y.

BUFFALO, Feb. 27.—On Washington street, at 10:30 o'clock, Saturday, a series of explosions occurred in the unfinished conduits of the Bell telephone company, caused by the accumulation of gas. Five man holes were blown out almost simultaneously, with loud reports. Pieces of iron covers were hurled high in the air, and two workmen, named Fred Zott and Wm. Wood, are seriously burned about the face and hands.

THE STRIKE ON!

The Train Men on the C. B. & Q. Road Quit Work and no Trains Leave Chicago but the Mail.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Just before the time appointed for the strike on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, (4 o'clock a. m.) trainmaster S. T. Pope issued an order that no trains should be moved west of Chicago. This was taken by the few train men in the yards as a confession that the company had secured no men worth mentioning, and that the road would in a moment more be practically tied up. At precisely 4 o'clock engine 447 went into the Western avenue round house. Three others soon followed, and the engineers and firemen quit work. The strike was on in earnest.

A couple of suburban trains were the only ones to come in over the Burlington road this morning. Master Mechanic Howland was in charge of one engine and Superintendant Rinthran the other. No train left up to 10 o'clock but the mail.

Of the 1,600 firemen and engineers, all struck but one, an engineer at Galesburg. The strikers did not bring the engines through to the end of their runs. Before 11 o'clock fifty applicants for positions had been accepted. The manager says so far as he knows only engineers and firemen are in the strike. At East St. Louis the platform men and brakemen also stopped.

AN ITALY HORROR.

An Avalanche Buries Half the Inhabitants of a Village.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The village of Valtorta, North Italy, has been half buried by an avalanche. Many houses were wrecked and the occupants buried. Troops have arrived to aid in the disintering. Twenty-three bodies have been recovered.

A DOUBLE CRIME.

A Fearful Tragedy Enacted at Milwaukee, Wis.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 27.—A fearful tragedy has been added to the annals of crime in Milwaukee, Gustav Winkler killed his wife and then rid the community of himself. The murderer was 32 years of age and father of three children, respectiveiy 6 months, 2 years, and 3 years old. Winkler had come to this country about a year ago, the means for the trip having been furnished him by his uncle, Fred. Preusser, a prominent business man of Milwaukee. Winkler was a fresco painter by trade, but an inventor by inclination, and his frequent disappointments unsettled his mind. He was of a jealous nature and frequently had trouble with his wife. Their quarrels occurred regularly and were no secret to their neighbors. A lady who lives in the same house, No. 707 Cedar street, this noon heard a dull noise in Winkler's apartments, but paid no particular attention to it.

Their children were playing around the house, but towards evening missed their parents, and their cries brought the lady from up stairs to the Winkler rooms below. She forced one door open and found the couple dead. Winkler had a quarrel with his wife early in the morning, and it was renewed at noon. The outcome was that he took a revolver and sent a bullet into his wife's brain, then fired a second into his own mouth. Death must have been instantaneous in both cases. The scene was a horrid one as the police and others found it. Winkler was connected with some of the best families in town, the famous occulist Dr. Schneider, being his cousin.

MARTIN IRONS.

He Is Acquitted of Wire-Tapping, But Calls Judge Laughlin a Liar.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 27.—Martin Irons, the leader of the great strike of railroad men on the Missouri Pacific system two years ago, who has been on trial here for three days past on the charge of attempting to tap telegraph wires and obtain dispatches going to and from Jay Gould and General Manager Hoxie, was acquitted Saturday, greatly to the delight of his friends and the Knights of Labor generally.

During the summing up by counsel, Judge Laughlin, one of the attorneys for the prosecution, called Irons an anarchist, whereupon Irons called Mr. Laughlin a liar. The judge paid no attention to the remark of Irons, but a moment or two later bitterly denounced him as an agitator and an anarchist of the Spies and Johan Most type. Irons then sprang to his feet and in a highly excited manner and still louder voice, branded the judge as a liar. The scene was quite dramatic and exciting, but two deputy sheriffs soon squelched the irate defendant, and Mr. Laughlin continued his speech.

Rev. J. G. Lowrie, who has filled the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church at Elkhart for several years, has accepted a call to Niles, Mich.

STEAMER BLOWN UP

And Burned to the Water's Edge—Seven Killed and Many Are Wounded.

SOUTH VALLEJO, Cal., Feb. 27.—The steamer Julia was blown up this morning and burned to the water's edge. Over fifty persons were on board at the time and it is now known that seven were killed and many wounded. The Julia was a ferry steamer plying between Vallejo junction and South Vallejo.

A BIG HAUL.

The Post Office at Columbia City Robbed and its Safe Shattered.

When Hon. Eli W. Brown opened the post office at Columbia City yesterday morning he was shocked to see his safe in atoms and its contents gone.

Some time Saturday night burglars broke into the safe with tools stolen from a convenient blacksmith shop, and with powder blew the iron box to pieces.

They secured about $90 in cash, $22 money order funds and three or four registered letters, the contents of which are unknown. A package of postage stamps was left behind.

It was one of the boldest robberies ever committed in northern Indiana and there is no clew to the rascals.

FRIGHTFUL PUNISHMENT.

Monks Cast Alive Into a Crematory Near Canton.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 27.—The Chinese mail, which arrived, brings the details of a remarkable tragedy in a Buddhist monastery at Roundridge, near Canton. A number of monks and nuns appeared to take the vows of the order recently, and among the applicants were two unusually beautiful young women. Their physical charms proved too much for two of the monks, who, when the others had gone from the Temple, made a desperate assault on the young women.

Their screams brought the others to the rescue. The abbot decided to turn the monks over to the civil magistrate, but the latter sent them back to the monastery for trial and punishment. Each offender received twenty lashes on the bare back in the presence of all the others. This punishment so enraged the culprits that when released they armed themselves with knives and attacked the abbott, when they were bound, and this time it was determined to make the punishment severe.

It was resolved to burn the offenders to death in the cremating house of the monastery that the purifying influences of fire might first cleanse their hearts. Then it was hoped that even on their behalf the saving power of Buddha might be exerted. On the 17th of January the sentence was carried out. The two priests were carried bound into the cremating house, and in the presence of the brethren and a large crowd of spectators from the village, they were burned to death.

LONGS TO BE FREE.

John Gottlieb Hettler Seeks a Divorce from His Wife.

This afternoon John Gottleib Hettler, whose slight escapades have made him a character well known, applied for a divorce from his wife, Harriett Hettler, whom he says abandoned him four years ago. He makes no other charges and concludes by asking the custody of their four children. The parties were married twenty years ago. J. R. Bittinger is counsel for Mr. Hettler.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

A Nickel Plate Brakeman in That Business.

A warrant was issued from the mayor's court, this afternoon, for a Nickel Plate brakeman whose name is not known, for robbing a boy of $10, which the lad was sent out to get changed. The theft occurred on West Main street.

Dr. White Cloud, ex-government scout and guide with the gallant General Custer, has closed the contract with the manager of the Princess rink for a four weeks engagement, commencing March 7th, 1888. The rink will be nicely fitted up for this ovation, the troupe will number at least twenty-two people of which half at least will be genuine Warm Spring Indians who nobly fought the Sneak and Modoc Indian's in 73 under General Crook and the noted Donald McKay, who is now recognized as the greatest of living scouts, whose name is now prominent before the United States congress for services rendered as a scout for our government.

No business was transacted in Judge Chapin's court to-day.

THE CAPITAL CITY!

The Tariff Bill Completed—The President Sends a Batch of Appointments to the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The tariff bill has been practically completed and will be laid before a full committee on ways and means to-morrow. The time to which the debate is to be limited in the house is mentioned casually as between three and four weeks.

The president has sent the following nominations to the senate: John E. Corland, Dakota, associate justice of the supreme court of Dakota; Moses J. Liddell, Louisiana, associate justice of the supreme court of Montana; Lucius B. Nash, Washington Territory, associate justice of the supreme court of Washington Territory.

HARRISON INDIANA'S CHOICE.

So Says John C. New, Who Again Resurrects the Bloody Shirt.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—"The republicans of Indiana will present the name of Senator Harrison as that of their presidential candidate to the convention," said John C. New, at the Gilsey house, yesterday, "and," he added, "it will be with the steadfast purpose to adhere to his cause to the end and with no second choice. The propects of republican success in Indiana this fall are exceedingly bright. In addition to national we have important state issues. There are the mismanagement by the democrats of the benevolent and penal institutions of the state, the accumulation of a large state debt and the infamous gerrymandering of the state for legislative and congressional purposes. These things all make issues that will greatly enhance the chances of republican success. The party is now in good condition, and under the lead of Senator Harrison and with a good state ticket we would certainly carry the state. The senator will, anyway, have the solid Indiana delegation to the convention."

"Has Judge Gresham no chance?"

"The following of Judge Gresham is confined to a few men, and is not by any means formidable. His is a personal contest rather than in the interest of the party. Ninety per cent of the republicans in Indiana are for General Harrison, and that same percentage will not take kindly to the candidacy of Judge Gresham. He will have no strength in the convention from our state.

"As for Governor Porter he is not thought of in connection with the presidential nomination; he is only spoken of as a candidate for vice president, and we don't hanker after the vice presidency in our state. Indiana republicans have heretofore been treated like country cousins, and they don't want any more of that sort of treatment. They realize that their vote is necessary to the success of the republicans in 1888, and they expect that their wishes in the matter of candidates will be heard. They want the presidential nomination this year."

"How does Mr. Blaine's letter affect the situation out your way?"

"I am hardly prepared to speak as to that, but this I will say, I think the letter means just what it says and that those of Mr. Blaine's friends who interpret it otherwise are not doing him a service for which he should be thankful."

LOCAL NEWS.

Justice Ryan sent two tramps to jail this morning.

The annual examinations are in progress at the M. E. college.

General Master Mechanic Barnes, of the Wabash, is in the city.

Rev. Meade C. Williams is in the city, at the bedside of his mother, Mrs. Jesse L. Williams, who has been very ill.

The Wabash Times, the democratic organ of the county, was Saturday sold at sheriff's sale to satisfy a judgment for over $2,000 held by the First National bank. The office was bought in for the bank by Nelson G. Hunter, and it is understood that there will not be any change in the management for the present.

Dr. White Cloud, the celebrated specialist, has engaged the Princess rink for one month from March 7 and will give specialty entertainments daily in connection with his lectures. The doctor was scout for the gallant General Custer for years and also acted as government interpreter and scout on the frontier.

The water works trustees, through their attorneys, Hon. W. G. Colerick and Mr. A. A. Purman, have filed an answer to Judge Edward O'Rourke's mandatory order that they must show reason why the water rates are not reduced and collected according to law. They say they levied rentals to the best of their judgment, that the surplus only amounts to $12,000, that their water rents are lower than in any other city, and they cannot effect a further reduction unless with prejudice to the works. They completely ignore the provision that enables them to levy a general or "fire" tax and hint at vast improvements in the system, for all of which, besides the debt and interest, the water consumers must pay, if Judge O'Rourke does not interpose an objection and make the mandate of his court final.

FATAL WRECK.

An Engineer Killed, Eighteen Persons Injured, and a Sleeper and Coaches Burned.

COTTON, Neb. Feb. 27.—The Union Pacific fast train No. 4, known as the "flyer," collided with freight No. 19 at this point yesterday morning. The engineer of the "flyer" was instantly killed and eighteen people were wounded. The freight, which was pulling into a side-track, was struck at the third car from the caboose. The car was loaded with benzine, and in a flash the entire wreck was in flames.

Engineer Michael Powell, of Cheyenne, who was running the "flyer," stood at his post and was crushed to death, and his body was burned to a crisp. His fireman, named Johnson, jumped and escaped with a broken leg. The passengers, among whom was General Superintendent Dickinson, were badly shaken up, but none were fatally hurt. The passenger engine, tender, baggage car, day coach, sleeper and a number of freight cars were consumed. Overland trains No. 1 and 3, which were run around the wreck by Julesburg and Greeley, Col., to Cheyenne, were delayed twenty hours.

ECHOES FROM THE WRECK.

Martin Golden Brought Home for Burial —News from the Scene of the Disaster.

The remains of Martin Golden, the young man killed in the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne railroad collision near Warsaw, Friday night, were brought home Saturday night and will be buried from the family home, 32 Smith street, to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

The remains of the young man killed with Golden have not been identified and will be buried at Warsaw.

The locomotives implicated in the collision were brought to this city and this morning they were standing in the company's yards at the Lafayette street crossing, where they attracted considerable attention. They are badly shattered and will be taken into the company's shops here, where they will either be thoroughly repaired or torn to pieces as may be determined on after an examination.

The Warsaw Times has these additional particulars of the wreck:

Wm. Lohrman, the engineer of the east bound train, jumped from his engine and fell across a rail, sprained his back and bruised his face, although he is not, perhaps, seriously injured. The fireman, Udney Huff, who formerly resided at Kosciusko, in this county, was thrown the entire length of a car, falling on the wood in the tender, and from thence to the ground. At first he thought he was not hurt to any great extent, but this morning he was not able to use one of his limbs, his foot and knee being badly bruised. Two tramps, who were stealing a ride upon one of the trains, were killed. They with two or three others were in a box car about the middle of the train. The two that were killed had evidently jumped from the car, on the north side of the track, and from the position in which they were found, it looked as if they had just struck the ground when the box from the car flew from the trucks, crushing them to the earth. Some of the train men recognized one of the bodies as the remains of a man by the name of Golden, of Fort Wayne, a former brakeman on the road. What is remarkable in connection with the great crash of the cars was that about two hours after the accident occurred six or eight more tramps emerged unhurt from a box car which was piled high up on a mass of trucks, timber and other debris, and which was badly damaged and torn. Not one of the beholders supposed for a moment that any human being could possibly escape from the terribly wrecked and crushed cars. These tramps insisted that they had not even been awakened by the shock that must have been of terrific force.

Two fine horses were killed, said to have been racing animals, and if so their value would no doubt be very great. None of the train men other than those referred to, were hurt, although it was reported that some shreds of clothing had been found near the main body of the wreck, and it was supposed that it might have belonged to the body of another tramp that may have been thrown under the debris of the wreck.

Al. Walsh, a switchman on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago road, who resides at Warsaw, while coupling cars, Saturday, was almost crushed to death.

Capt. Henry McKinnie is in the city, having arrived from Pittsburg.

Four members of Mrs. Hays' family, of Chicago street, are ill with typhoid fever.

COUNCIL DOINGS.

Important Committee Meetings in Progress This Afternoon.

The city board of health and the police commissioners met at the mayor's office this afternoon.

The health board meet to arrange and prepare for the annual spring renovation and they propose to make it thorough. The alleys, the streets, sewers and out-houses will have to be cleaned up and shaped so as not to menace public health, and what is more, the secretary, Dr. Metcalfe, and his sanitary policeman will see that their ideas of cleanliness are enforced

The police commissioners meet to propose an ordinance putting the police alarm system into effect. They will report to the council that the wires are all up, the boxes in place and the patrol wagon in readiness for use.

They will require a team of horses, day and night drivers, with two special officers to do duty on the wagon. The council will also have to provide for keeping a record of all names and arrests. At Chicago two smart boys do this work and the same plan may be adopted here. Their business is to keep the instruments in order, record all alarms, announce them to the patrol posse and give an accurate account of each arrest and offender.

The committee will not conclude its deliberations until to-morrow.

REV. S. A. NORTHROP

Delivers an Interesting Sermon at the Baptist Church.

Last evening, despite the coldness of the weather, the Baptist church was well filled, and wrapt attention was given, while Rev. S. A. Northrop preached from the text found in Luke, 12, 20:

"Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee."

Liking the man of the present day, who has so much energy and time for the passing things of earth, so little for a never ending eternity, with the one of the text, he brought out and forcibly impressed the points embodied in the subject.

A fool is one who does not attend to those things which pertain to his welfare; hence, by wearing himself out working for a little earthly wealth, or distinction, which to him must end with his own brief life, while he disregards the glories and riches of an eternal life, a man shows himself to be a fool of fools.

1. Because he cares more for his body than his soul.

2. Because he preferred the world to God:—"Eat, drink and be merry," was the extent of his aim.

3. Because he preferred time to eternity:—Thou has goods laid up for many years.

4. Because he lived as if he should never die. Presuming on many years he exposed his soul to the horrors of sudden death, without repentance, without a new heart, without forgiveness, and without hope.

After the sermon an after-meeting was held in the lecture room of the church which was attended by almost the entire congregation, an intense interest being manifested. Several seekers rose for prayers and great encouragement is felt from the growing interest. Such a revival as has characterized these meetings for years past may again be confidently looked forward to between now and summer.

JUDGE REA, commander in chief of the G. A. R., is talked of for a candidate for congress in the Minneapolis district.

THE fishery treaty does not suit the Canadian or American fishermen and both sides are clamoring for its rejection. The treaty must be about right if it gives neither side an advantage.

THE next census of the United States will be very important as it will give us some idea of the wonderous increase of population. A bill is now before congress looking towards compiling the census figures.

THE question of the county purchasing and freeing the toll roads will be voted on at the coming township elections. We know of no local project that better deserves support than does the one of giving us all free turn pikes.

A NATIONAL congress or conference of laborers is proposed and might do some good in considering wage questions and teaching laboring men the wonderful beauty of silence, the value of quiet, patient, organized effort and the utter demoralization of talk, ambition and political management.

THE friends of Gen. Patrick Collins, of Boston, taking time by the forelock, have begun to press him for chairman of the St. Louis convention. Mr. Collins has been voting with the republicans in congress and will hardly be made chairman of the democratic convention as a reward for his treachery.

IT will pain the Gazette to hear that a Harrison club has been organized at Indianapolis. The News, of that city, heaps this crushing paragraph on the Gresham boom: "Republican sentiment in Indiana is practically unanimous for Harrison, if the papers judge correctly. Not 5 per cent. is in favor of anybody else."

THERE is a regular stampede of Georgia negroes in the direction of Athens, Atlanta, and other cities where the free-school system prevails. Many farmers are being deserted by every hand, and one farmer in Oglethrope County who runs forty plows has not a negro to-day on his farm, the last one having left for Athens. Whole neighborhoods have been deserted by the blacks, and every shanty in the corporate limits of Athens swarms with half-starved negroes. There is nothing in Athens for them to do, there being more men than there is work or room for. The farmers say they would not listen to propositions looking to contracts for another year, but intend to all move to towns where their children can be sent to school the year round without any money.

THE watch without hands which has recently been brought before the public is simply a watch with the ordinary wheelwork in which the intermediate teeth are wanting, and which gear every minute and hour only. The contrivance, though admitted to possess some inconveniences, is, on the other hand, claimed to present some genuine preferences over the ordinary make. Thus, the construction not only allows the reading to be accurate, but also permits of estimating the time that separate each passing minute. There is not only an optical sign given, but also an acoustic one, since at every change of figure the ear perceives a slight sound, and consequently it becomes useless for one to examine his watch in order to measure a given interval of time—a feature of special value to engineers, physicians, officers, travelers, and observers. The experimenter knows exactly when a minute begins and ends.

THE North China Herald says that persons who doubt the barbarity of some of the Chinese punishments "have only to walk into the city of Shanghai this morning, a few minutes' task, and they will find one of the most revolting of those punishments in full operation, and its infliction applauded by all the Chinese who know of it." The criminal, one Koh, is a hardened ruffian, who has passed the greater part of the last ten years in jail. The specific offense for which he was being punished was his habit of blackmailing the new prisoners who were put in jail with him. He was suspended in a cage about five feet high, with his head through the top of a wooden collar, so that he could not reach it with his hands. His feet, which were loaded with chains, were so far from the bottom that he could only just touch it when standing on tiptoe. Here he was condemned to stand, without food or water, just inside the outer gate of the magistrate's yamen, the sport of hundreds, until death put an end to his sufferings.

THE largest passenger engine ever constructed, says the Albany Argus, is now being built in the Schenectady Locomotive Works, for the Michigan Central Railroad, and is calculated for express and passenger purposes. It is a ten-wheel engine, having three pairs of coupled driving-wheels and a four-wheel truck. The drivers are sixty-eight inches in diameter, with twenty-four-inch stroke. The boiler is fifty-eight inches in diameter, and has 147 two-inch semi-steel flues. The fire-box is eight feet long by forty-two and seven-eighths inches wide, and, like many recently built, is placed above the frames, which gives increased width. The tank is carried on two four-wheel channel iron trucks. The capacity of the tank is 3,000 gallons, and the tender has a capacity of eight tons of coal.

IN the city of Louisville, Ky., lives William Hancock, who spent eight days of his life nailed up in a coffin in a burial vault. The horrible experience unsettled the man's reason and he seldom leaves the room in which he sleeps and eats. Sixteen years ago Hancock was a man of some means, living then in Kansas City. He was taken ill one day and gradually grew worse until apparently he died. An undertaker was called in and the usual ghastly preparations for an interment were gone through with. Two days after his death the funeral took place and the man was followed to the burial ground by his sorrowing friends. The body, instead of being put in a grave at once, was placed in a receiving vault. Eight days afterward the sexton took his men and started to remove the coffin to the grave that had been prepared, when he was horrified to feel something move and hear a slight groan from the supposed dead man. The lid was removed and it was found that the man was breathing slightly. Physicians were summoned and a galvanic battery applied. After some time the man was resuscitated and he was then removed to his home. He has never recovered from the effects of his awful experience, mentally, but is still a fairly strong and healthy man for his age.

The following is the call for the convention issued by the national democratic committee before adjourning:

The national democratic committee having met in the city of Washington on the 22d day of February, 1888, has appointed Tuesday, the 5th day of June next, at noon, as the time and chosen the city of St. Louis as the place of holding the national democratic convention.

Each state is entitled to a representation therein equal to double the number of its senators and representatives in the congress of the United States, and each territory and the district of Columbia shall have two delegates.

All democratic and conservative citizens of the United States, irrespective of past political associations and differences who can unite with us in the effort for pure, economical and constitutional government are cordially invited to join in sending delegates to the convention.

WM. H. BARNUM, Chairman.
FREDERICK O. PRINCE, Secretary.

HE BELONGS TO A CLUB.

What shall we call this codger? What is the name they dub a fellow who lives on muscle? They say he belongs to a club. He bows and says: "How'd do, sir?" They say he's a genuine tramp; he was once a regular bruiser, but now he's a common place scamp. Referring to bruiser and bruises, or what a man does with a club, if any man carefully uses St. Jacobs Oil, tried with a rub, he will surely find comfort and ease. It will cure as certain as fate; and then you can go as you please and do your work early and late. As, for instance, a physician says: "Sylvania, Ohio, June 13, 1887. —Our postmaster here has a severe hip wound; he uses St. Jacobs Oil and cannot do without it. T. B. Hemks, M. D." From the assistant general superintendent third division postoffice, New York, N. Y., comes the following: "The reports from the several superintendents and clerks who have used St. Jacobs Oil agree in praising it highly. It has been found efficacious for bruises, cuts, burns, soreness and stiffness of the joints and muscles, and affords a ready relief for rheumatic complaints. W. H. Wareing." Mr. I. M. Dickson, Hopewell, Pa., writes Feb. 21, 1887: "We have used St. Jacobs Oil in our family for several years, and consider it the best remedy for bruises, cuts and swellings. It is my special remedy for cramps and sore throat." Mr. Joachim Witt, Evanston, Ill., writes February 11, 1887: "Some time ago I fell from a building and was bruised very badly. I tried St. Jacobs Oil, and in one week I was cured. This great remedy is the best pain cure in the world." Mr. Christoph Fink, Hampton, Iowa, February 6, 1887, writes: "St. Jacobs Oil is a wonderful remedy for bruises and similar complaints. I can recommend it in every way." The foreman of the Pennsylvania freight warehouse, Mr. David Barlet, jr., writes February 11, 1887, from Bellefonte, Pa., as follows: "I can truthfully say St. Jacobs Oil is the best remedy for bruises, cuts or sprains." Bruises, sprains, cuts and wounds, whether by accident or design, are, as the foregoing show, cured promptly and permanently, and there is no reason to doubt a sure cure in the cheapest way possible.

A Persian William Tell.

In the province of Nakhchewan there lived a youth renowned for his uncommon courage; his name was Demurchy-Oglou, the son of a blacksmith. Passing one day through the town bazaar he stopped to listen to the conversation of two Turks who were extolling the liberality with which Kurroglou used to reward every brave man that entered his service. He said to himself: "My heart is bursting for want of action in this town. I must go and serve that warrior, who knows the value of men." He then got up, saddled his horse, and, putting on his armor, rode toward Chamly-bill. Kurroglou at that time was hunting with his whole band. He looked before him, and, thinking that he saw a gazelle or some other game, put his horse to gallop in the direction of an object which appeared like a dark spot at a distance. It was Demurchy-Oglou. "Who art thou, young man, and whence dost thou come?" "I go to Chamly-bill. I have heard that Kurroglou, who lives there, is a liberal master and knows the value of men. I desire to serve under him." Kurroglou said in heart: "Fine lad this." He then gave him his reply: "My soul! I am Kurroglou. Thou hast heard I was liberal and always ready to give bread away, but thou must also know I only give it to the brave; the cowards get nothing from me." By that time Kurroglou's cavalry joined him, and he then said: "My children—my souls! here have I haunted down my game." Saying these words he took an apple from his pocket and a ring from his finger. He fixed the ring into the apple and said to Demurchy-Oglou: "Sit down in the Persian mode." Then, turning to his servants, he ordered them to take off the cap from the head of the newcomer. He then placed the apple on the bare head of the latter and rode aside. He bent his bow and continued to pass one arrow after the other through the ring. Out of the sixty arrows that were shot not one went astray. Kurroglou was glad to see that Demurchy-Oglou did not even once wince or change his countenance. He said: "My souls! my children! whoever loves me let him contribute toward Demurchy-Oglou's dress and saddle." In an instant the stranger found himself rich, so many things were given him. Kurroglou said: "It is not often that one can get into his service a youth like him.—Chodzko's "Persia."

Rings for the Fingers.

Of all the ornaments with which vanity, superstition, and affection have decorated the human form, few have more curious bits of history than the finger-ring. From the earliest times the ring has been a favorite ornament, and the reasons for this general preference shown for it over other articles of jewelry are numerous and cogent Ornaments whose place is on some portion of the apparel, or in the hair, must be laid aside with the clothing or head-dress; are thus easily lost and often not at once missed. Pins, broches, buckles, clasps, buttons, all sooner or later become defective in some part, and are liable to escape from an owner unconscious of the defect in the mechanism. The links of a necklace in time become worn, and the article is taken off to be mended; the spring or other fastening of a bracelet is easily broken, and the bracelet vanishes. With regard to ornaments fastened to parts of the savage body, mutilation is necessary, the ear must be bored, the nose be pierced, the cheeks or lips be slit, and, even after these surgical operations are completed, the articles used for adornment are generally inconvenient, and sometimes, by their weight or construction, are extremely painful.

In striking contrast with decorations worn on the clothing, in the hair, round the neck and arms, or pendant from the ears, lips, and nose, is the finger-ring, the model of convenience. It is seldom lost, for it need not be taken off, requires no preparatory mutilation of the body, is not painful, is always in view, a perpetual reminder, either of the giver or of the purpose for which it is worn.

The popularity of the ring must, therefore, be in large measure due to its convenience, and that this good quality was early learned may be inferred from the Hebrew tradition, which attributes the invention of this ornament to Tubal Cain, the "instructor of every artificer in brass and iron."—Popular Science Monthly.

Good Advice.

The beginning of the new year is an especially appropriate season in which to impart hints intended for the benefit of suffering humanity.

Perhaps there is no other habit that causes as much misery as that of worrying and fretting. It is true that we, ourselves, editorially speaking, have not given up worrying and fretting, but this is no reason why we should not advise our patrons to be calm and collected.

Don't fret. It is useless; it sets no broken bones, stops no leaks, gathers no spilt milk, repairs no broken glass, cures no spoilt hay, and has no effect on the thermometer.

As regards the "career of small anxieties," one great art of managing them is to cease thinking about them just at that point where thought becomes morbid. There comes a time when thought is wasted upon these anxieties.

Another method of avoiding worry and trouble is not to expect too much. There is a great deal of solid truth in the saying, "Blessed are those who don't expect much, for they are not liable to be disappointed."

Man doubles all the evils of his fate by pondering over them. A scratch becomes a wound, a slight an injury, a jest an insult, a small peril a great danger, and a slight sickness often ends in death by brooding apprehensions.—Texas Siftings.

It is a Curious Fact

That the body is now more susceptible to benefit from medicine than at any other season. Hence the importance of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now, when it will do you the most good. It is really wonderful for purifying and enriching the blood, creating an appetite, and giving a healthy tone to the whole system. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is peculiar to itself.

BAKING POWDERS.

Official Tests by the Ohio State Food Commission.

Analyses of the Chief Brands of the Country---Their Strength and Value Ascertained.

The Ohio State Dairy and Food commission under the direction of the legislature of that state, has made public the result of its recent official examination of the baking powders of the market. As many of the brands analyzed are in use throughout the country, the report of the commission will be found of general interest.

The startling fact is brought out by the report that of the thirty different brands of baking powder analyzed, twenty are made from alum, a substance declared by the highest medical authorities to be injurious to health when used in food.

The commission classify the baking powders into three general divisions, according to their value:

1st. Cream of tartar baking powders.
2d. Phosphate baking powders.
3d. Alum baking powders.

The commission explains that the best baking powder is that which, the ingredients being healthful, gives off the largest amount of leavening gas and leaves the smallest amount of residum in the bread. A small amount of carbonate of ammonia, which is considered healthful, is used in some of the cream of tartar powders to give them a higher strength. The commission says that alum is undoubtedly a hurtful salt. The report ranks the powders and shows the amount in each of inert resultants, which in using would appear as residum in the bread, as follows:

Name.	Per Cent. inert, or Residuum.
CREAM OF TARTAR POWDERS.
1. Royal	7.25
2. Dr. Price's	12.66
3. Pearson's	14.39
4. Cleveland's	10.18
5. Snow Drift	17.54
6. Upper Ten	9 22
7. De Land's	32.52
8. Sterling	12.63
PHOSPHATIC BAKING POWDERS.
9. Hosford's	36.49
10. Wheat	86.23
ALUM BAKING POWDERS.
11. Empire	34 26
12. Gold	30.34
13. Veteran	23.36
14. Cook's Favorite	34.92
15. Sun Flower	35 60
16. Kenton	38.17
17. Patapsco	40 08
18. Jersey	16 05
19. Buckeye	29.85
20. Peerless	26.28
21. Silver Star	31.88
22. Crown	16.69
23. Crown (Special)	25.69
24. One Spoon	58.68
25. Wheeler's No. 15	27.73
26. Carleton	30.94
27. Gem	36.57
28. Scioto	18.25
29 Zipp's Grape Crystal	11.99
30. Forest City	24.04

The large amount of inert matter or residuum in both the phospate and alum powders will be noted. This in the phospate powders is largely of lime; in the alum powders it is chiefly alum. It will be gratifying to the public to observe that the powder in most general use, the Royal, is also the purest. In comparing the first two powders on the list, for instance—the Royal and Dr. Price's—the inert matter in Price's is seen to be about five in seven more than in the former, a difference of 71 3-7 per cent., the Royal being purer than Price's by a corresponding figure.

The carbonic or leavening gas produced by the powders indicates their strength; and their true value may be ascertained by considering the amount of this gas in connection with their inert matter of residuum as shown above. The higher the per centage of gas and the lower the per centage of residuum the better the baking powder. These per centages, as found in some of the most familiar powders, are given as follows:

Name.	Per Cent of Leavening Gas.	Per Cent. of Residuum.
Royal	11.80	7 25
Sterling	11.	12.63
Price's	10.50	12.66
DeLand's	10.	32.52
Gem, Alum	8.45	36.57
Forest City Alum	7.80	24 04
Silver Star, Alum	6.90	31.88
Kenton, Alum	6.20	38 17
Patapsco, Alum	6.	40.08
Empire, Alum	5.80	34.26
Cook's Favorite, Alum	5.80	34.92
One Spoon Alum	5.75	58.68

With the foregoing explanation the study of these figures will readily give consumers a knowledge of the comparative value of the different brands. To illustrate with the per centages given the two powders before compared; the Royal containing 11.8 parts of leavening gas to 10.5 in Price's, its excess of strength is 1.3 in 10.5, or 12.4 per cent. Royal is, therefore, 12.4 per cent. stronger, as well as 71 per cent. purer, than Price's, etc. The relative strength and purity of the powders can be computed in like manner.

Syrup of Figs.

Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Co., San Francisco, Cal., is Nature's own true laxative. This pleasant California liquid fruit remedy may be had of Theime and Gross, druggists, large bottles at fifty cents or one dollar. It is the most pleasant, prompt, and effective remedy known to cleanse the system; to act on the Liver, Kidneys, and bowels gently yet thoroughly; to dispel Headaches, Colds and Fevers; to cure Constipation, Indigestion, and kindred ills.

a man for groaning when he has Rheumatism or Neuralgia. The pain is simply awful. No torture in the ancient times was more painful than these twin diseases. But—oughtn't a man to be blamed if, having Rheumatism or Neuralgia, he wont use Ath-lo-pho-ros, when it has cured thousands who have suffered in the same way? It has cured hundreds after physicians have pronounced them incurable.

"The skill of five physicians could not cure me of Rheumatism which had settled in the hips, neck and shoulders. So intense was the pain that sleep was almost impossible. The first dose of Athlophoros gave me relief, and the third enabled me to sleep for four and a half hours without waking. I continued its use and am now well."

A Boon

To mankind, said a member of the State Medical Society of Ga., at one of its meetings, "and the prescription ought to be given to the medical fraternity for the benefit of the Profession, for no such combination exists in the Pharmacopea as that of Simmons Liver Regulator." The late THOS. H. POWERS, of Philadelphia, America's greatest chemist, asserted "it was like the discovery of Dover, in his celebrated Dover's Powder, it could not be improved and it was wonderfully strange that the combination had never been made in an official form."

L. M. HINTON M. D., Washington, Ark., says: "No other remedy within my knowledge can fill its place. I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive powers."

Symptoms such as bitter or bad taste in the mouth; pain in the back, often mistaken for Rheumatism; sour stomach; loss of appetite; bowels alternately costive and lax; headache; loss of memory, with a painful sensation of having failed to do something which ought to have been done; debility; low spirits; a thick yellow appearance of the skin and eyes; a dry cough often mistaken for Consumption, indicate Liver disease, and if not regulated in time great suffering, wretchedness and death will often ensue.

Price $1. Sold by all Druggists. Prepared by J. H. ZEILIN & CO., Philadelphia, Pa

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and bodily health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURE," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.

French and American Newspapers.

Brander Matthews has in the Century an illustrated article on "Parisian Newspapers," which he begins as follows: "One of the most characteristic street cries of London and New York is never heard in Paris, nor is one of the most picturesque figures in the streets of London and New York ever seen in the streets of Paris, for in France the noisy and pertinacious newsboy is unknown. The functions of this unstable disseminator of intelligence are filled in Paris by the staid old dame, who sits at the receipt of custom in a kiosque. A Parisian kiosque has nothing oriental but the name. It is a little sentry-box of glass, just large enough to shelter the newsvender from the changeable weather of the French capital. On a little stand in front of the kiosque are tiny heaps of countless newspapers of the city, and on strings on each side are pendent numbers of the chief illustrated journals, artistic and comic. These kiosques are scattered along the boulevards, and from them the Parisian buys his Figaro in the morning and his Temps at five in the afternoon.

"This difference of attitude between the hurrying American, who has to have his newspapers brought to him in haste hot from the press, and the leisurely Frenchman, who is content to pick up his paper when he goes abroad—this difference is far more than external; it is essentially typical of the French journal and the English or American newspaper. For one thing, the French journal is not a newspaper in the American sense of the word—and of a truth it does not pretend or desire to be. The Figaro now and again make a ludicrous claim to the ubiquitous omniscience of the London Times or the New York Herald, but this is not to be taken seriously. The fact is that while the primary quality of a good English or American daily paper is news, the primary quality of a good French paper is not news, but criticism—criticism of politics in the first place, of course, and, in the second, criticism of commerce, of law, of finance, of science, of art, of literature, and of the drama. The aim and ideal of the best French editors is to present not so much the minor details of a fact, but the best possible opinion on the fact. Of mere brute news, minute particulars of scandals, crimes, and horrors, such as we here in America have dumped upon our breakfast-table every morning, with all the accompanying repetition and accumulation of uninteresting facts—of all this the reader of the Parisian journal sees little or nothing. The childish or unintelligent thirst to know what has happened, regardless of the importance of the event, has not yet been developed in France by the rivalry of scrambling editors; and it may be asserted without fear of contradiction that even if they could have it without cost and without trouble, French editors would refuse to print most of the trivial trash which cumbers the columns of even the foremost American papers.

"It is not that some of Parisian papers do not print trivial trash, and trash worse than trivial; the difference is rather in aim, the French editor, thinking first of criticism and the American editor only too often thinking of mere news—first, last, and all the time. Yet the leading principle which should govern even in news-gathering is better understood in Paris than in London or New York. This is the principle which has aptly been called the 'perspective of news,' and by virtue of which a trifling accident in the immediate neighborhood is of more importance than a great calamity a thousand miles away. As Villemessant concisely put it, 'A dog run over on the Boulevard des Italiens' is of more consequence to the Figaro than an earthquake in Australia. If we substitute for the injured dog a picture exhibited or a new play produced, we have just the things about which the Parisian papers give the most news."

Was Honesty the Best Policy?

The Listener is reminded by a story in the local columns of a morning paper of the discouragements which sometimes attend the doing of a good deed. The story is of a small boy who found a $2.50 gold piece among some pennies that had been given him in change, and took the coin back to the "young lady cashier" who had given it to him. The young woman promptly covered it back into her treasury, and, ignoring the small boy, "at once entered into a discussion with a masculine associate as to how the piece came in the cent compartment of the money-drawer." As the honest boy was not interested in the question how it came there, he withdrew. That was all. "Hœc fabulæ docet," if it "docet" anything, very much the same thing that one did of which the Listener had a certain knowledge.

A very small boy of his acquaintance, a very honest small boy indeed, found that a dog that had strayed into the neighborhood was advertised for. He gathered up the dog and took him to the advertised address, proud in the consciousness of having done a good deed. As soon as he had entered the place, which was a store, the proprietor seized the dog and kicked the boy out of the store, accompanying the physical indignity with: "Get out, you little thief! I'll teach you to steal my dog!" The boy came home with tears in his eyes. "I shall never, never take home another dog," was the lesson that he had learned from his experience.

Another friend of the Listener—a man this time—took back a gold dollar that he found among some pennies and felt that he must have received at a certain place. "I will take your dollar," said the gruff cashier, thrusting it promptly into a box, "but I doubt very much whether any mistake has been made!" He did not take the trouble to explain what right he had to the dollar if no mistake had been made; he simply wanted the money and the credit for infallibility in making change too. How much does the world gain, by the way, by everybody's assumption that everybody else either does not know very much, or else is a rascal?—Boston Transcript.

If the liver and kidneys are sluggish and inactive, Hood's Sarsaparilla will rouse them to prompt and regular action. Take it now,

Increase of Tea Production.

The statistics of the export of Japanese tea show that while the annual quantities sent abroad (mainly to the United States) have rapidly increased, the prices are still more rapidly diminishing. In 1859, the first year Japan was opened to foreign trade, the export was only 20,000 pounds, while in 1878, the last year for which the comparative statistics are given, it reached 22,500,000 pounds. For the most part the increase was a steady and regular one, showing few and trifling fluctuations. Not so, however, the prices. In 1866 the average price per picul (133⅓ pounds) was 23, in 1869, $30, 1870 $32, 1871, $38, 1872 $37, and then it declined until in 1878 it was only $18, or less than half that of 1872. As in China, the cause of this enormous decline in value is depreciation in quality; the tea-growers, being anxious to get the leaf rapidly and in as large quantities as possible to the market, do not give it the time and care required in the delicate operation of producing high quality tea. From a report made by the Assam Secretariat to the Government of Bengal it appears that in 1886 there were in the Brahmapootra and Surma valleys 883 tea gardens of over 934,000 acres, of which only an area of 204,000 acres was under actual cultivation. One-sixth of this area was added in the last four years. The total yield was 61,000,000 pounds. The first sample of Assam tea reached Mincing Lane in 1837, when, according to the Pioneer 488 pounds were sold at 19 shillings per pound. In 1886 37,000,000 pounds came from the Brahmapootra valley and 24,000,000 pounds from the Surma valley, being at about the rate of 360 pounds an acre.

Thatched Roofs in the South.

Where shingles are scarce or too dear, says a Louisiana paper, roofs could be thatched with sedge grass as an excellent substitute for shingles on out-buildings. Sedge grass sometimes grows four or five feet high, the straw is stiff, and the tops made up of small branches and twigs well adapted to such purposes. It is said that a good thatched roof of sedge grass set at an angle of 45 degrees will shed water and last for fifteen or twenty years. Tie the bundles of sedge grass up with waxed twine or tarred twine, the butt to be larger than a man's wrist. Nail lathing on the rafters eighteen inches apart. The first row of sedge bundles for the eaves should be laid butts down, the butts nailed with ten-penny nails to the lathing. All the others should be butts up. Lay the bundle on the lathing, knot on the twine up, and there should be three inches of loose twine left on this knot when binding. Drive a ten-penny nail near the knot through the bundle into the lathing, and before sinking it too deep with the hammer take two half hitches around it with the three inches of spare twine. When completed put saddle boards on top, and the roof is complete—warmer in winter than shingles, cooler in summer, and nearly as lasting as shingles if the work is well done.

The Wonderful Healing Properties of Darby's Prophylactic Fluid.

Wherever a preventing, healing and deodorizing injection or wash is required use Darby's Prophylatic Fluid. Any inflamed surface, external or internal, treated with the Fluid will be quickly relieved. It has effectd cures that had resisted the best medical skill.

The Boers in Africa.

Some think that they are excellent pioneers in a new country. They advance into native territories, killing the people by thousands, enslaving women and children, robbing them of all their lands and cattle, and occupying their country, with no ulterior benefit to themselves or others, but merely as a field for further cruelties and spoliation of native races, so that the country may be cleared of them, but not for civilization or improving the country, becauset hey leave a dark spot wherever they settle from the ruthless cruelties they perpetrate upon unoffending and innocent people. Are they, then, good pioneers? All the sophistry in the world cannot make it right. To murder, enslave, and rob innocent human beings living on their own lands, who have done no harm, and have as much right to live and enjoy their own as any other people, black or white, that they should be so ruthlessly treated by men who profess Christianity and to be a God-fearing people is an anomaly and cannot be tolerated by a just and upright people like the British nation. The English people have hitherto been looked upon as friends and protectors of the natives, and as one of them I felt proud of my country. But since the Transvaal rebellion and its retrocession the Englishman is ashamed to travel in the country to be subjected to the taunts of the chiefs and people at the boasted honor of England. —"Twenty-Five Years in a Wagon."

A purgative medicine should possess tonic and curative, as well as cathartic properties. This combination of ingredients may be found in Ayer's Pills. They strengthen and stimulate the bowels, causing natural action.

Perhaps no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. While not immediately fatal it is among the most distressing, nauseous and disgusting ills the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of redical cure of chronic catarrh by any of the multitude of modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving he child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

A Pair of Red Boots.

Among the Tartars of the Ukraine boots of red leather are generally worn. This fact gave rise to a form of torture practiced, as an act of revenge, by the banditti who formerly infested the region. The victim's skin was cut round the upper part of his legs, and then torn off by the feet.

Some years ago the chief of a desperate gang of robbers became so troublesome that a large reward was offered for his capture. A Russian soldier managed to secure the robber and to hand him over to his commander.

Instead of being executed, the robber was set at liberty. He had amassed wealth and was able to pay the commander a large sum of money to release him.

One day, shortly after the capture, the soldier was surprised to receive a visit from the robber chief.

"You caught me once," said he to the soldier, "but before you set out upon another expedition in search of me I will give you a pair of red boots for the journey."

Having uttered this terrible threat, the robber escaped. The soldier, knowing if he gave a chance the threat would be executed, and having no confidence in his commander's honesty, determined to take the administration of justice in his own hands.

He pursued the robber, and after several days tracked him to a cave. Entering with cocked pistols in his hands, he found the robber chief.

"You promised me," said he "a pair of red boots; I have come to be measured for them!" and then shot the chief dead on the spot.—Youth's Companion

Almost miraculous are some of the cures accomplished by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In the case of R. L. King, Richmond, Va., who suffered for 47 years with an aggravated form of scrofula, Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected astonishing results.

Adventures in Morocco.

We had a great excitement one afternoon in the bazaar—a fight between Woodville's and Boulnois' horses—which nearly ended disastrously for the former. It is the great drawback to Moorish horses, their propensity to fight. It was a fearful sight to see the beasts pawing one another in the air and in the narrow, crowded bazaar where no one could approach to stop them. However, almost miraculously it seemed, it ended without loss of life. It was amusing riding through the streets to hear the curses which little boys, sometimes even grown men, used to heap upon our heads. "May Allah burn your grandfather and grandmother!" they used to say; but somehow we thought that these reiterated prayers of Allah for this purpose could have much effect, so we used only to laugh at them. Now and then, though, a Moor got his ears well boxed for it by soldiers, and on one occasion by one of us, when a strong, young European might have been seen seated on the prostrate body of a shereef, and saying in perfect Arabic: "You burn my parents, will you?" —bang. "You'll call me 'haloof!'" (wild boar) —bang. "I'll teach you to speak to Christians like that!" —bang. I don't think that Moor would have breath enough left in him to curse again for many a long day. This, however, was not in Morocco, but in a town on the coast. —Illustrated London News.

Martyrs to Headache

Seek relief in vain, until they begin to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Then they regret the years of suffering they might have escaped had they tried this remedy earlier. The trouble was constitutional not local; and, until Ayer's Sarsaparilla did its effective work as an Alterative and Blood Purifier, they were compelled to suffer.

The wife of Samuel Page, 21 Austin st., Lowell, Mass., was, for a long time, subject to severe headaches, the result of stomach and liver disorders. A perfect cure has been effected by Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frank Roberts, 727 Washington st., Boston, says that he formerly had terrible headaches, and until he took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, never found any medicine that would give Permanent Relief.

"Every Spring, for years," writes Lizzie W. DeVean, 262 Fifteenth st., Brooklyn, N. Y., "I have had intolerable headaches. I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla last March, and have not had a headache since that time."

"I suffered from headache, indigestion, and debility, and was hardly able to drag myself about the house," writes Mrs. M. M. Lewis, of A st., Lowell, Mass. "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has worked a marvelous change in my case. I now feel strong and well as ever."

Jonas Garman, Esq., of Lykins, Pa., writes: "For years I have suffered dreadfully, every Spring, from headache, caused by impurity of the blood and biliousness. It seemed for days and weeks that my head would split open. Nothing relieved me till I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has cured me completely."

When Mrs. Genevra Belanger, of 24 Bridge st., Springfield, Mass., began to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, she had suffered for some years from a serious affection of the kidneys. Every Spring, also, she was afflicted with headache, loss of appetite, and indigestion. A friend persuaded her to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which benefited her wonderfully. Her health is now perfect. Martyrs to headache should try

LOCAL NEWS.

Col. J. B. Dodge, of Warsaw, is quite ill.

J. B. Ruess, of this city, was at Muncie Saturday.

The city council will meet to-morrow night in regular session.

There were sixteen deaths reported to the city undertakers last week.

The roads are very rough through the city and no pleasure riding was indulged in yesterday.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Mollett took place yesterday afternoon from the Salem Reformed church.

The usual amount of Sunday driving was not indulged in yesterday on account of the bad condition of roads.

There are five candidates already announced for county treasurer on the republican ticket in Kosciusko county.

The funeral of the little child of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mertz took place this afternoon from their residence, No. 41 Pine street.

Mr. Charles Noll arrived from Chicago Saturday evening in response to a telegram announcing the death of his father, Mr. Martin Noll.

An intoxicated man on Berry street, who was so drunk that he could hardly keep on the sidewalk, attracted considerable attention yesterday afternoon.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kayser died Saturday at the home of the parents, No. 131 Broadway. The funeral took place this afternoon from the Emanuel Lutheran church.

Mr. George Bradley, the accomplished tenor, leads the singing at the Sunday afternoon meetings of the railroad department of the Young Men's Christian association. He is devoted to the cause and always at his post.

The Warsaw Daily Times says: "Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Creighton, of Fort Wayne, came over to this place yesterday on a visit to relatives and friends. They are looking well, but have a slight attack of the Californian fever, we understand.

Capt. John R. Runyan, formerly postmaster of Warsaw, has announced himself as a candidate for county treasurer on the republican ticket in Kosciusko county. He was defeated in the nominating convention for the same position a few years ago.

Mrs. D. P. Bowers, the actress, who appeared at the Temple this season, retired from the stage last week. Her last appearance was at the Grand Opera house, in St. Louis, after which the company started for New York, where they will disband. Mrs. Bowers made her debut at the Park theatre, New York, in 1846, being then Miss Elizabeth Crocker.

Mrs. Langtry's individual profits for the current season will probably come well up to the top figure of any single star, in spite of the fact that she has an expensive company. Booth and Barrett will undoubtedly have the largest receipts ever known for any single combination. Henry Irving will average as much and perhaps more than ever. He has broken one or two records already, but the most important is that of the largest amount ever taken for a dramatic performance in the Boston theater—$4,700 at the matinee last Saturday. Edwin Booth and Frank Chanfrau have both played to larger houses in the same theater, but not to so much money.

The Mrs. Potter freak has thoroughly established the "fad" among society ladies in New York of going upon the stage, either as amateurs or even in a professional capacity. Thus it turns out that the place of Adele Belgrade in "Paul Kanvar" is to be filled by a society debutante, a Mrs. Gibbs, from a New Jersey town, who is heralded as a rich woman. It is said that refined "supers" are a drug in the New York theatrical market at the presen time. In Fanny Davenport's "La Tosca" two daughters of a wealthy Brooklyn sugar refiner are to appear as choristers, and both Mrs. Langtry and Mrs. Potter have not scrupled to give such gushing aspirants a chance. Mrs. Potter is a coming attraction at the Temple.

THE SENTINEL announced the engagement of these young people some time ago. Mr Becker will remain in the city until Wednesday and attend a masked ball that is to be given in his honor to-morrow evening at the Standard hall.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger preached a great sermon at the Cathedral yesterday morning and with truth, force and logic he inveighed against blasphemy, profanity and cursing, vices so prevalent in our day. The bishop pictured how terrible was the modern custom of calling on God to curse some one, or something, what a demoralizing effect this blasphemy has on the family or the community, and what a blighting, fearful practice it was to wish ill to mankind in God's name which should alone be used reverently and for good. His words are timely and will lead to fruitful results, for no one can doubt that profanity has grown of late years to an alarming and disgusting degree.

JAKE HISER.

He Spoils Doc. Sullivan's Elopement with Mrs. Hiser.

Jake Hiser was the central figure in a dramatic scene last night. His wife does not evince a desire to cleave to him and planned an elopement with one Doc. Sullivan, who also has a wife and family.

Mr. Hiser keeps a saloon on Main street, and some one gave him a friendly tip that Mrs. H. was going to fly with her lover. He repaired to the family fireside and met the guy deceiver. Pulling an ugly revolver from his clothes he made Sullivan get down on his knees and beg for life.

Mrs. Hiser was also compelled to suppress her longings for the doctor and pomise better things.

Then Mr. Hiser led the intruder out and sent three or four shots into the air to hasten his exit.

This called the police and the explanation above followed while reporters wept bitter tears at the spoiling of a domestic tragedy.

ECHOES OF THE RAIL.

Monday Morning Does not Come to the Front With a Very Interesting Budget of News.

The trains on the railroads were late yesterday.

There are only two more working days in this month.

The shop clerks are getting ready for their monthly reports.

Wm. Bartels, a moulder in the Bass works, has returned to duty again after his sickness.

Fred Blanch, the carpenter, has been sick at the Racine house in Bloomingdale for a few days.

The Horton manufacturing company turns out 125 corn planters and 100 washing machines every day.

Harry Hays a machinist in the Bass works, had his overcoat stolen from his boarding place a few nights ago.

James Lowe, the assistant master mechanic of the Alleghney City railroad shops, has been in the city for a few days.

The car of a freight train jumped the track on the Pittsburg road near Warsaw last night, and delayed some of the trains.

The boilers in the Pittsburg car shops have been placed in position and the works are now running with an increased capacity.

The frightful wreck at Etna Green was the theme of conversation in railroad circles yesterday. It was the worst the Pennsylvania company has had for years.

E. A. King has resigned his position in the draughting department of the Pittsburg shops to accept that of assistant under J. A. Graham, the general superintendent of the car shops.

Will Leonard, of Master Mechanic Potter's office, and J. H. Hobrock, jr., and Chas. Cherry, clerks in the Pittsburg shops, were at Chicago yesterday taking in the sights and seeing Langtry.

Tramps are now beginning to be seen around the depots and railroads in large numbers. The lazy fellows would rather beg than work and they do not hesitate to steal when an opportunity offers.

Peter Honziker was injured in the eye this morning by a piece of iron flying up and hitting him. The injury was a severe one, but he tied a bandage around the wounded optic and went to work again.

Wm. Eberhard, a moulder in the Bass works, fell and injured himself last Wednesday. He did not think at the time his injuries were very bad and continued working until Saturday evening. Yesterday, feeling pretty badly, he consulted a doctor and one of his ribs was found to be fractured. He is laying off this week and will not resume work again until he has perfectly recovered.

Dr. R. W. St. Clair tells how, a few years since, he was riding on an engine when he caught a cinder in his eye that caused the most excruciating pain. He began to rub the afflicted organ, when the engineer called out: "Let that eye alone and rub the other one. I know you doctors think you know it all, but if you let that eye alone and rub the other one, the cinder will be out in two minutes," persisted the engineer. The doctor began to rub the other eye and soon felt the cinder down near the inner canthus, and made ready to take it out. "Let it alone and keep at the well eye!" shouted the engineer. He did so for a minute longer, and, looking in a small glass, found the offender on his cheek.

A very prominent railroad official said yesterday that he didn't believe any sweeping changes among the officials of the Pennsylvania system would be made at the next annual election; that Mr. McCullough, first vice-president of the Pennsylvania company, who was getting along in years might retire; that for some time back Mr. McCullough's duties had from time to time been lightened. The gentleman added that he thought Mr. Roberts would be re-elected president. When asked if it wasn't a fact that Mr. Roberts was in poor health and threatened with paralysis he said: "Mr. Roberts has never been very robust, and it has been reported for several years that he was in poor health, but he continues to discharge the duties of president, and in my opinion will succeed himself at the next annual meeting."

Care for the Children

Children feel the debility of the changing seasons, even more than adults, and they become cross, peevish, and uncontrollable. The blood should be cleansed and the system invigorated by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Last Spring my two children were vaccinated. Soon after, they broke all out with running sores, so dreadful I thought I should lose them. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured them completely; and they have been healthy ever since. I do feel that Hood's Sarsaparilla saved my children to me." MRS. C. L. THOMPSON, West Warren, Mass.

Purify the Blood

Hood's Sarsaparilla is characterized by three peculiarities: 1st, the combination of remedial agents; 2d, the proportion; 3d, the process of securing the active medicinal qualities. The result is a medicine of unusual strength, effecting cures hitherto unknown. Send for book containing additional evidence.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make new over." J. P. THOMPSON, Register of Deeds, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

THE WRONG MAN.

Belief That a Man Lynched Two Years Ago Was Innocent.

EATONTOWN, N. J., Feb. 27.—Richard Kearney, a burly colored man, employed by Mrs. Lyddy, of New York, in her cottage at Long Branch, was arrested recently for an outrageous assault on Mrs. Partail, the housekeeper. It is now believed that he is guilty of the crime for which an old colored man, known as Mingo Jack, was lynched two years ago.

It is even rumored that he has confessed that such is the case. Mingo Jack's real name was Samuel Johnson, and he was arrested on March 5, 1886, on the charge of having outraged Miss Angelina Herbert, the twenty-four-year-old daughter of Henry Herbert, of this place. There was no direct evidence connecting him with the crime. Even his victim failed to identify him when he was brought before her. Circumstances were strongly against him, however, and he bore a very bad reputation. Johnson was locked up in the little county jail and left without a guard. During the night the jail was broken into and Johnson taken out and lynched.

Reduced Rates.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 27.—Colonel Nettleton has reduced freight rates one-half on classes one, two, three and four, 25 cents to 10 cents on class four. His cuts effect all stations on the Kansas City, Fort Scott and Gulf and Kansas City, Springfield and Clinton roads.

The new Wayne hotel will be opened Thursday, in all probability.

Ohio Tally Sheet Case.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—The tally sheet forgery cases were adjourned over until to-morrow morning, owing to the inability of Prosecuting Attorney Huling to appear. Steube, the defendant, who made the assault on Huling was arraigned for contempt of court and placed under bond for his appearance Wednesday morning.

The president's coat pocket protruded so much at the recent Florida fishing that some one asked the reason why. "It's only a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup," the handsome gentleman explained: "I never travel a mile without it."

BUFFALO, Feb. 27.—On Washington street, at 10:30 o'clock, Saturday, a series of explosions occurred in the unfinished conduits of the Bell telephone company, caused by the accumulation of gas. Five man holes were blown out almost simultaneously, with loud reports. Pieces of iron covers were hurled high in the air, and two workmen, named Fred Zott and Wm. THE STRIKE ON!

The Train Men on the C. B. & Q. Road Quit Work and no Trains Leave Chicago but the Mail.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Just before the time appointed for the strike on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, (4 o'clock a. m.) trainmaster S. T. Pope issued an order that no trains should be moved west of Chicago. This was taken by the few train men in the yards as a confession that the company had secured no men worth mentioning, and that the road would in a moment more be practically tied up. At precisely 4 o'clock engine 447 went into the Western avenue round house. Three others soon followed, and the engineers and firemen quit work. The strike was on in earnest.

A couple of suburban trains were the only ones to come in over the Burlington road this morning. Master Mechanic Howland was in charge of one engine and Superintendant Rinthran the other. No train left up to 10 o'clock but the mail.

Of the 1,600 firemen and engineers, all struck but one, an engineer at Galesburg. The strikers did not bring the engines through to the end of their runs. Before 11 o'clock fifty applicants for positions had been accepted. The manager says so far as he knows only engineers and firemen are in the strike. At East St. Louis the platform men and brakemen also stopped.

AN ITALY HORROR.

An Avalanche Buries Half the Inhabitants of a Village.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The village of Valtoria, North Italy, has been half buried by an avalanche. Many houses were wrecked and the occupants buried. Troops have arrived to aid in the disinfecting. Twenty-three bodies have been recovered.

A DOUBLE CRIME.

A Fearful Tragedy Enacted at Milwaukee, Wis.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 27.—A fearful tragedy has been added to the annals of crime in Milwaukee, Gustav Winkler killed his wife and then rid the community of himself. The murderer was 32 years of age and father of three children, respectively 6 months, 2 years, and 3 years old. Winkler had come to this country about a year ago, the means for the trip having been furnished him by his uncle, Fred. Preusser, a prominent business man of Milwaukee. Winkler was a fresco painter by trade, but an inventor by inclination, and his frequent disappointments unsettled his mind. He was of a jealous nature and frequently had trouble with his wife. Their quarrels occurred regularly and were no secret to their neighbors. A lady who lives in the same house, No. 707 Cedar street, this noon heard a dull noise in Winkler's apartments, but paid no particular attention to it.

Their children were playing around the house, but towards evening missed their parents, and their cries brought the lady from up stairs to the Winkler rooms below. She forced one door open and found the couple dead. Winkler had a quarrel with his wife early in the morning, and it was renewed at noon. The outcome was that he took a revolver and sent a bullet into his wife's brain, then fired a second into his own mouth. Death must have been instantaneous in both cases. The scene was a horrid one as the police and others found it. Winkler was connected with some of the best families in town, the famous occulist Dr. Schneider, being his cousin.

MARTIN IRONS.

He Is Acquitted of Wire-Tapping, But Calls Judge Laughlin a Liar.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 27.—Martin Irons, the leader of the great strike of railroad men on the Missouri Pacific system two years ago, who has been on trial here for three days past on the charge of attempting to tap telegraph wires and obtain dispatches going to and from Jay Gould and General Manager Hoxie, was acquitted Saturday, greatly to the delight of his friends and the Knights of Labor generally.

During the summing up by counsel, Judge Laughlin, one of the attorneys for the prosecution, called Irons an anarchist, whereupon Irons called Mr. Laughlin a liar. The judge paid no attention to the remark of Irons, but a moment or two later bitterly denounced him as an agitator and an anarchist of the Spies and Johan Most type. Irons then sprang to his feet and in a highly excited manner and still louder voice, branded the judge as a liar. The scene was quite dramatic and exciting, but two deputy sheriffs soon squelched the irate defendant, and Mr. Laughlin continued his speech.

And Burned to the Water's Edge—Seven Killed and Many Are Wounded.

SOUTH VALLEJO, Cal., Feb. 27.—The steamer Julia was blown up this morning and burned to the water's edge. Over fifty persons were on board at the time and it is now known that seven were killed and many wounded. The Julia was a ferry steamer plying between Vallejo junction and South Vallejo.

A BIG HAUL.

The Post Office at Columbia City Robbed and its Safe Shattered.

When Hon. Eli W. Brown opened the post office at Columbia City yesterday morning he was shocked to see his safe in atoms and its contents gone.

Some time Saturday night burglars broke into the safe with tools stolen from a convenient blacksmith shop, and with powder blew the iron box to pieces.

They secured about $90 in cash, $22 money order funds and three or four registered letters, the contents of which are unknown. A package of postage stamps was left behind.

It was one of the boldest robberies ever committed in northern Indiana and there is no clew to the rascals.

FRIGHTFUL PUNISHMENT.

Monks Cast Alive Into a Crematory Near Canton.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 27.—The Chinese mail, which arrived, brings the details of a remarkable tragedy in a Buddhist monastery at Roundridge, near Canton. A number of monks and nuns appeared to take the vows of the order recently, and among the applicants were two unusually beautiful young women. Their physical charms proved too much for two of the monks, who, when the others had gone from the Temple, made a desperate assault on the young women.

Their screams brought the others to the rescue. The abbot decided to turn the monks over to the civil magistrate, but the latter sent them back to the monastery for trial and punishment. Each offender received twenty lashes on the bare back in the presence of all the others. This punishment so enraged the culprits that when released they armed themselves with knives and attacked the abbott, when they were bound, and this time it was determined to make the punishment severe.

It was resolved to burn the offenders to death in the cremating house of the monastery that the purifying influences of fire might first cleanse their hearts. Then it was hoped that even on their behalf the saving power of Buddha might be exerted. On the 17th of January the sentence was carried out. The two priests were carried bound into the cremating house, and in the presence of the brethren and a large crowd of spectators from the village, they were burned to death.

THE CAPITAL CITY!

The Tariff Bill Completed—The President Sends a Batch of Appointments to the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The tariff bill has been practically completed and will be laid before a full committee on ways and means to-morrow. The time to which the debate is to be limited in the house is mentioned casually as between three and four weeks.

The president has sent the following nominations to the senate: John E. Corland, Dakota, associate justice of the supreme court of Dakota; Moses J. Liddell, Louisiana, associate justice of the supreme court of Montana; Lucius B. Nash, Washington Territory, associate justice of the supreme court of Washington Territory.

HARRISON INDIANA'S CHOICE.

So Says John C. New, Who Again Resurrects the Bloody Shirt.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—"The republicans of Indiana will present the name of Senator Harrison as that of their presidential candidate to the convention," said John C. New, at the Gilsey house, yesterday, "and," he added, "it will be with the steadfast purpose to adhere to his cause to the end and with no second choice. The propects of republican success in Indiana this fall are exceedingly bright. In addition to national we have important state issues. There are the mismanagement by the democrats of the benevolent and penal institutions of the state, the accumulation of a large state debt and the infamous gerrymandering of the state for legislative and congressional purposes. These things all make issues that will greatly enhance the chances of republican success. The party is now in good condition, and under the lead of Senator Harrison and with a good state ticket we would certainly carry the state. The senator will, anyway, have the solid Indiana delegation to the convention."

"Has Judge Gresham no chance?"

"The following of Judge Gresham is confined to a few men, and is not by any means formidable. His is a personal contest rather than in the interest of the party. Ninety per cent of the republicans in Indiana are for General Harrison, and that same percentage will not take kindly to the candidacy of Judge Gresham. He will have no strength in the convention from our state.

"As for Governor Porter he is not thought of in connection with the presidential nomination; he is only spoken of as a candidate for vice president, and we don't hanker after the vice presidency in our state. Indiana republicans have heretofore been treated like country cousins, and they don't want any more of that sort of treatment. They realize that their vote is necessary to the success of the republicans in 1888, and they expect that their wishes in the matter of candidates will be heard. They want the presidential nomination this year."

"How does Mr. Blaine's letter affect the situation on your way?"

"I am hardly prepared to speak as to that, but this I will say, I think the letter means just what it says and that those of Mr. Blaine's friends who interpret it otherwise are not doing him a service for which he should be thankful."

LOCAL NEWS.

Justice Ryan sent two tramps to jail this morning.

The annual examinations are in progress at the M. E. college.

General Master Mechanic Barnes, of the Wabash, is in the city.

Rev. Meade C. Williams is in the city, at the bedside of his mother, Mrs. Jesse L. Williams, who has been very ill.

The Wabash Times, the democratic organ of the county, was Saturday sold at sheriff's sale to satisfy a judgment for over $2,000 held by the First National bank. The office was bought in for the bank by Nelson G. Hunter, and it is understood that there will not be any change in the management for the present.

The water works trustees, through their attorneys, Hon. W. G. Colerick and Mr. A. A. Purman, have filed an answer to Judge Edward O'Rourke's mandatory order that they must show reason why the water rates are not reduced and collected according to law. They say they levied rentals to the best of their judgment, that the surplus only amounts to $12,000, that their water rents are lower than in any other city, and they cannot effect a further reduction unless with prejudice to the works. They completely ignore the provision that enables them to levy a general or "fire" tax and hint at vast improvements in the system, for all of which, besides the debt and interest, the water consumers must pay, if Judge O'Rourke does not interpose an objection and make the mandate of his court final.

FATAL WRECK.

An Engineer Killed, Eighteen Persons Injured, and a Sleeper and Coaches Burned.

COZAD, Neb. Feb. 27.—The Union Pacific fast train No. 4, known as the "flyer," collided with freight No. 19 at this point yesterday morning. The engineer of the "flyer" was instantly killed and eighteen people were wounded. The freight, which was pulling into a side-track, was struck at the third car from the caboose. The car was loaded with benzine, and in a flash the entire wreck was in flames.

Engineer Michael Powell, of Cheyenne, who was running the "flyer," stood at his post and was crushed to death, and his body was burned to a crisp. His fireman, named Johnson, jumped and escaped with a broken leg. The passengers, among whom was General Superintendent Dickinson, were badly shaken up, but none were fatally hurt. The passenger engine, tender, baggage car, day coach, sleeper and a number of freight cars were consumed. Overland trains No. 1 and 3, which were run around the wreck by Julesburg and Greeley, Col., to Cheyenne, were delayed twenty hours.

ECHOES FROM THE WRECK.

Martin Golden Brought Home for Burial —News from the Scene of the Disaster.

The remains of Martin Golden, the young man killed in the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne railroad collision near Warsaw, Friday night, were brought home Saturday night and will be buried from the family home, 32 Smith street, to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

The remains of the young man killed with Golden have not been identified and will be buried at Warsaw.

The locomotives implicated in the collision were brought to this city and this morning they were standing in the company's yards at the Lafayette street crossing, where they attracted considerable attention. They are badly shattered and will be taken into the company's shops here, where they will either be thoroughly repaired or torn to pieces as may be determined on after an examination.

The Warsaw Times has these additional particulars of the wreck:

Wm. Lohrman, the engineer of the east bound train, jumped from his engine and fell across a rail, sprained his back and bruised his face, although he is not, perhaps, seriously injured. The fireman, Udney Huff, who formerly resided at Kosciusko, in this county, was thrown the entire length of a car, falling on the wood in the tender, and from thence to the ground. At first he thought he was not hurt to any great extent, but this morning he was not able to use one of his limbs, his foot and knee being badly bruised. Two tramps, who were stealing a ride upon one of the trains, were killed. They with two or three others were in a box car about the middle of the train. The two that were killed had evidently jumped from the car, on the north side of the track, and from the position in which they were found, it looked as if they had just struck the ground when the box from the car flew from the trucks, crushing them to the earth. Some of the train men recognized one of the bodies as the remains of a man by the name of Golden, of Fort Wayne, a former brakeman on the road. What is remarkable in connection with the great crash of the cars was that about two hours after the accident occurred six or eight more tramps emerged unhurt from a box car which was piled high up on a mass of trucks, timber and other debris, and which was badly damaged and torn. Not one of the beholders supposed for a moment that any human being could possibly escape from the terribly wrecked and crushed cars. These tramps insisted that they had not even been awakened by the shock that must have been of terrific force.

Two fine horses were killed, said to have been racing animals, and if so their value would no doubt be very great. None of the train men other than those referred to, were hurt, although it was reported that some shreds of clothing had been found near the main body of the wreck, and it was supposed that it might have belonged to the body of another tramp that may have been thrown under the debris of the wreck.

Al. Walsh, a switchman on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago road, who resides at Warsaw, while coupling cars, Saturday, was almost crushed to death.

Capt. Henry McKinnie is in the city, having arrived from Pittsburg.

Four members of Mrs. Hays' family, of Chicago street, are ill with typhoid fever.

COUNCIL DOINGS.

Important Committee Meetings in Progress This Afternoon.

The city board of health and the police commissioners met at the mayor's office this afternoon.

The health board met to arrange and prepare for the annual spring renovation and they propose to make it thorough. The alleys, the streets, sewers and out-houses will have to be cleaned up and shaped so as not to menace public health, and what is more, the secretary, Dr. Metcalfe, and his sanitary policeman will see that their ideas of cleanliness are enforced.

The police commissioners meet to propose an ordinance putting the police alarm system into effect. They will report to the council that the wires are all up, the boxes in place and the patrol wagon in readiness for use.

They will require a team of horses, day and night drivers, with two special officers to do duty on the wagon. The council will also have to provide for keeping a record of all names and arrests. At Chicago two smart boys do this work and the same plan may be adopted here. Their business is to keep the instruments in order, record all alarms, announce them to the patrol posts and give an accurate account of each arrest and offender.

The committee will not conclude its deliberations until to-morrow.

REV. S. A. NORTHROP

Delivers an Interesting Sermon at the Baptist Church.

Last evening, despite the coldness of the weather, the Baptist church was well filled, and wrapt attention was given, while Rev. S. A. Northrop preached from the text found in Luke, 12, 20:

"Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee."

Liking the man of the present day, who has so much energy and time for the passing things of earth, so little for a never ending eternity, with the one of the text, he brought out and forcibly impressed the points embodied in the subject.

A fool is one who does not attend to those things which pertain to his welfare: hence, by wearing himself out working for a little earthly wealth, or distinction, which to him must end with his own brief life, while he disregards the glories and riches of an eternal life, a man shows himself to be a fool of fools.

1. Because he cares more for his body than his soul.

2. Because he preferred the world to God:—"Eat, drink and be merry," was the extent of his aim.

3. Because he preferred time to eternity:—Thou has goods laid up for many years.

4. Because he lived as if he should never die. Presuming on many years he exposed his soul to the horrors of sudden death, without repentance, without a new heart, without forgiveness, and without hope.

After the sermon an after-meeting was held in the lecture room of the church which was attended by almost the entire congregation, an intense interest being manifested. Several seekers rose for prayers and great encouragement is felt from the growing interest. Such a revival as has characterized these meetings for years past may again be confidently looked forward to between now and summer.

JUDGE REA, commander in chief of the G. A. R., is talked of for a candidate for congress in the Minneapolis district.

THE fishery treaty does not suit the Canadian or American fishermen and both sides are clamoring for its rejection. The treaty must be about right if it gives neither side an advantage.

THE next census of the United States will be very important as it will give us some idea of the wonderous increase of population. A bill is now before congress looking towards compiling the census figures.

THE question of the county purchasing and freeing the toll roads will be voted on at the coming township elections. We know of no local project that better deserves support than does the one of giving us all free turn pikes.

A NATIONAL congress or conference of laborers is proposed and might do some good in considering wage questions and teaching laboring men the wonderful beauty of silence, the value of quiet, patient, organized effort and the utter demoralization of talk, ambition and political management.

THE friends of Gen. Patrick Collins, of Boston, taking time by the forelock, have begun to press him for chairman of the St. Louis convention. Mr. Collins has been voting with the republicans in congress and will hardly be made chairman of the democratic convention as a reward for his treachery.

IT will pain the Gazette to hear that a Harrison club has been organized at Indianapolis. The News, of that city, heaps this crushing paragraph on the Gresham boom: "Republican sentiment in Indiana is practically unanimous for Harrison, if the papers judge correctly. Not 5 per cent. is in favor of anybody else."

THERE is a regular stampede of Georgia negroes in the direction of Athens, Atlanta, and other cities where the free-school system prevails. Many farmers are being deserted by every hand, and one farmer in Oglethrope County who runs forty plows has not a negro to-day on his farm, the last one having left for Athens. Whole neighborhoods have been deserted by the blacks, and every shanty in the corporate limits of Athens swarms with half-starved negroes. There is nothing in Athens for them to do, there being more men than there is work or room for. The farmers say they would not listen to propositions looking to contracts for another year, but intend to all move to towns where their children can be sent to school the year round without any money.

THE watch without hands which has recently been brought before the public is simply a watch with the ordinary wheelwork in which the intermediate teeth are wanting, and which gear every minute and hour only. The contrivance, though admitted to possess some inconveniences, is, on the other hand, claimed to present some genuine preferences over the ordinary make. Thus, the construction not only allows the reading to be accurate, but also permits of estimating the time that separate each passing minute. There is not only an optical sign given, but also an acoustic one, since at every change of figure the ear perceives a slight sound, and consequently it becomes useless for one to examine his watch in order to measure a given interval of time—a feature of special value to engineers, physicians, officers, travelers, and observers. The experimenter knows exactly when a minute begins and ends.

THE North China Herald says that persons who doubt the barbarity of some of the Chinese punishments "have only to walk into the city of Shanghai this morning, a few minutes' task, and they will find one of the most revolting of those punishments in full operation, and its infliction applauded by all the Chinese who know of it." The criminal, one Koh, is a hardened ruffian, who has passed the greater part of the last ten years in jail. The specific offense for which he was being punished was his habit of blackmailing the new prisoners who were put in jail with him. He was suspended in a cage about five feet high, with his head through the top of a wooden collar, so that he could not reach it with his hands. His feet, which were loaded with chains, were so far from the bottom that he could only just touch it when standing on tiptoe. Here he was condemned to stand, without food or water, just inside the outer gate of the magistrate's yamen, the sport of hundreds, until death put an end to his sufferings.

THE largest passenger engine ever constructed, says the Albany Argus, is now being built in the Schenectady Locomotive Works, for the Michigan Central Railroad, and is calculated for express and passenger purposes. It is a ten-wheel engine, having three pairs of coupled driving-wheels and a four-wheel truck. The drivers are sixty-eight inches in diameter, with twenty-four-inch stroke. The boiler is fifty-eight inches in diameter, and has 147 two-inch semi-steel flues. The fire-box is eight feet long by forty-two and seven-eighths inches wide, and, like many recently built, is placed above the frames, which gives increased width. The tank is carried on two four-wheel channel iron trucks. The capacity of the tank is 3,000 gallons, and the tender has a capacity of eight tons of coal.

IN the city of Louisville, Ky., lives William Hancock, who spent eight days of his life nailed up in a coffin in a burial vault. The horrible experience unsettled the man's reason and he seldom leaves the room in which he sleeps and eats. Sixteen years ago Hancock was a man of some means, living then in Kansas City. He was taken ill one day and gradually grew worse until apparently he died. An undertaker was called in and the usual ghastly preparations for an interment were gone through with. Two days after his death the funeral took place and the man was followed to the burial ground by his sorrowing friends. The body, instead of being put in a grave at once, was placed in a receiving vault. Eight days afterward the sexton took his men and started to remove the coffin to the grave that had been prepared, when he was horrified to feel something move and hear a slight groan from the supposed dead man. The lid was removed and it was found that the man was breathing slightly. Physicians were summoned and a galvanic battery applied. After some time the man was resuscitated and he was then removed to his home. He has never recovered from the effects of his awful experience, mentally, but is still a fairly strong and healthy man for his age.

The following is the call for the convention issued by the national democratic committee before adjourning:

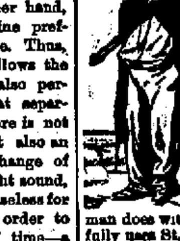

The national democratic committee having met in the city of Washington on the 22d day of February, 1888, has appointed Tuesday, the 5th day of June next, at noon, as the time and chosen the city of St. Louis as the place of holding the national democratic convention.

Each state is entitled to a representation therein equal to double the number of its senators and representatives in the congress of the United States, and each territory and the district of Columbia shall have two delegates.

All democratic and conservative citizens of the United States, irrespective of past political associations and differences who can unite with us in the effort for pure, economical and constitutional government are cordially invited to join in sending delegates to the convention.

WM. H. BARNUM, Chairman.
FREDERICK O. PRINCE, Secretary.

HE BELONGS TO A CLUB.

What shall we call this codger? What is the name they dub a fellow who lives on muscle? They say he belongs to a club. He bows and says: "How'd do, sir?" They say he's a genuine tramp; he was once a regular bruiser, but now he's a common place scamp. Referring to bruiser and bruises, or what a man does with a club, if any man carefully uses St. Jacobs Oil, tried with a rub, he will surely find comfort and ease. It will cure as certain as fate; and then you can go as you please and do your work early and late. As, for instance, a physician says: "Sylvania, Ohio, June 18, 1887.—Our postmaster here has a severe hip wound; he uses St. Jacobs Oil and cannot do without it. T. B. Hemke, M. D." From the assistant general superintendent third division postoffice, New York, N. Y., comes the following: "The reports from the several superintendents and clerks who have used St. Jacobs Oil agree in praising it highly. It has been found efficacious for bruises, cuts, burns, soreness and stiffness of the joints and muscles, and affords a ready relief for rheumatic complaints. W. H. Wareing." Mr. I. M. Dickson, Hopewell, Pa., writes Feb. 21, 1887: "We have used St. Jacobs Oil in our family for several years, and consider it the best remedy for bruises, cuts and swellings. It is my special remedy for cramps and sore throat." Mr. Joachim Witt, Evanston, Ill., writes February 11, 1887: "Some time ago I fell from a building and was bruised very badly. I tried St. Jacobs Oil, and in one week I was cured. This great remedy is the best pain cure in the world." Mr. Christoph Fink, Hampton, Iowa, February 6, 1887, writes: "St. Jacobs Oil is a wonderful remedy for bruises and similar complaints, I can recommend it in every way." The foreman of the Pennsylvania freight warehouse, Mr. David Barlet, jr., writes February 11, 1887, from Bellefonte, Pa., as follows: "I can truthfully say St. Jacobs Oil is the best remedy for bruises, cuts or sprains." Bruises, sprains, cuts and wounds, whether by accident or design, are, as the foregoing show, cured promptly and permanently, and there is no reason to doubt a sure cure in the cheapest way possible.

A Persian William Tell.

In the province of Nakhebewan there lived a youth renowed for his uncommon courage; his name was Demurchy-Oglou, the son of a blacksmith. Passing one day through the town bazaar he stopped to listen to the conversation of two Turks who were extolling the liberality with which Kurroglou used to reward every brave man that entered his service. He said to himself: "My heart is bursting for want of action in this town. I must go and serve that warrior, who knows the value of men." He then got up, saddled his horse, and, putting on his armor, rode toward Chamly-bill. Kurroglou at that time was hunting with his whole band. He looked before him, and, thinking that he saw a gazelle or some other game, put his horse to gallop in the direction of an object which appeared like a dark spot at a distance. It was Demurchy-Oglou. "Who art thou, young man, and whence dost thou come?" "I go to Chamly-bill. I have heard that Kurroglou, who lives there, is a liberal master and knows the value of men. I desire to serve under him." Kurroglou said in heart: "Fine lad this." He then gave him his reply: "My soul! I am Kurroglou. Thou hast heard I was liberal and always ready to give bread away, but thou must also know I only give it to the brave; the cowards get nothing from me." By that time Kurroglou's cavalry joined him, and he then said: "My children—my souls! here have I haunted down my game." Saying these words he took an apple from his pocket and a ring from his finger. He fixed the ring into the apple and said to Demurchy-Oglou: "Sit down in the Persian mode." Then, turning to his servants, he ordered them to take off the cap from the head of the new-comer. He then placed the apple on the bare head of the latter and rode aside. He bent his bow and continued to pass one arrow after the other through the ring. Out of the sixty arrows that were shot not one went astray. Kurroglou was glad to see that Demurchy-Oglou did not even once wince or change his countenance. He said: "My souls! my children! whoever loves me let him contribute toward Demurchy-Oglou's dress and saddle." In an instant the stranger found himself rich, so many things were given him. Kurroglou said: "It is not often that one can get into his service a youth like him.—Chodzko's "Persia."

Rings for the Fingers.

Of all the ornaments with which vanity, superstition, and affection have decorated the human form, few have more curious bits of history than the finger-ring. From the earliest times the ring has been a favorite ornament, and the reasons for this general preference shown for it over other articles of jewelry are numerous and cogent. Ornaments whose place is on some portion of the apparel, or in the hair, must be laid aside with the clothing or head-dress; are thus easily lost and often not at once missed. Pins, broches, buckles, clasps, buttons, all sooner or later become defective in some part, and are liable to escape from an owner unconscious of the defect in the mechanism. The links of a necklace in time become worn, and the article is taken off to be mended; the spring or other fastening of a bracelet is easily broken, and the bracelet vanishes. With regard to ornaments fastened to parts of the savage body, mutilation is necessary, the ear must be bored, the nose be pierced, the cheeks or lips be slit, and, even after these surgical operations are completed, the articles used for adornment are generally inconvenient, and sometimes, by their weight or construction, are extremely painful.

In striking contrast with decorations worn on the clothing, in the hair, round the neck and arms, or pendant from the ears, lips, and nose, is the finger-ring, the model of convenience. It is seldom lost, for it need not be taken off, requires no preparatory mutilation of the body, is not painful, is always in view, a perpetual reminder, either of the giver or of the purpose for which it is worn.

The popularity of the ring must, therefore, be in large measure due to its convenience, and that this good quality was early learned may be inferred from the Hebrew tradition, which attributes the invention of this ornament to Tubal Cain, the "instructor of every artificer in brass and iron."—Popular Science Monthly.

Good Advice.

The beginning of the new year is an especially appropriate season in which to impart hints intended for the benefit of suffering humanity.

Perhaps there is no other habit that causes as much misery as that of worrying and fretting. It is true that we, ourselves, editorially speaking, have not given up worrying and fretting, but this is no reason why we should not advise our patrons to be calm and collected.

Don't fret. It is useless; it sets no broken bones, stops no leaks, gathers no spilt milk, repairs no broken glass, cures no spoilt hay, and has no effect on the thermometer.

As regards the "career of small anxieties," one great art of managing them is to cease thinking about them just at that point where thought becomes morbid. There comes a time when thought is wasted upon these anxieties.

Another method of avoiding worry and trouble is not to expect too much. There is a great deal of solid truth in the saying, "Blessed are those who don't expect much, for they are not liable to be disappointed."

Man doubles all the evils of his fate by pondering over them. A scratch becomes a wound, a slight an injury, a jest an insult, a small peril a great danger, and a slight sickness often ends in death by brooding apprehensions.—Texas Siftings.

It is a Curious Fact

That the body is now more susceptible to benefit from medicine than at any other season. Hence the importance of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now, when it will do you the most good. It is really wonderful for purifying and enriching the blood, creating an appetite, and giving a healthy tone to the whole system. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is peculiar to itself.

BAKING POWDERS.

Official Tests by the Ohio State Food Commission.

Analyses of the Chief Brands of the Country—Their Strength and Value Ascertained.

The Ohio State Dairy and Food commission under the direction of the legislature of that state, has made public the result of its recent official examination of the baking powders of the market. As many of the brands analyzed are in use throughout the country, the report of the commission will be found of general interest.

The startling fact is brought out by the report that of the thirty different brands of baking powder analyzed, twenty are made from alum, a substance declared by the highest medical authorities to be injurious to health when used in food.

The commission classify the baking powders into three general divisions, according to their value:

1st. Cream of tartar baking powders.
2d. Phosphate baking powders.
3d. Alum baking powders.

The commission explains that the best baking powder is that which, the ingredients being healthful, gives off the largest amount of leavening gas and leaves the smallest amount of residium in the bread. A small amount of carbonate of ammonia, which is considered healthful, is used in some of the cream of tartar powders to give them a higher strength. The commission says that alum is undoubtedly a hurtful salt. The report ranks the powders and shows the amount in each of inert resultants, which in using would appear as residum in the bread, as follows:

The large amount of inert matter or residuum in both the phospate and alum powders will be noted. This in the phospate powders is largely of lime; in the alum powders it is chiefly alum. It will be gratifying to the public to observe that the powder in most general use, the Royal, is also the purest. In comparing the first two powders on the list, for instance—the Royal and Dr. Price's—the inert matter in Price's is seen to be about five in seven more than in the former, a difference of 71 3-7 per cent., the Royal being purer than Price's by a corresponding figure.

The carbonic or leavening gas produced by the powders indicates their strength; and their true value may be ascertained by considering the amount of this gas in connection with their inert matter of residuum as shown above. The higher the per centage of gas and the lower the per centage of residuum the better the baking powder. These per centages, as found in some of the most familiar powders, are given as follows:

Name.	Per Cent of Leavening Gas.	Per Cent. of Residuum.
Royal	11.80	7.25
Sterling	11.	12.68
Price's	10.50	12.66
DeLand's	10.	32.52
Gem, Alum	8.45	36.57
Forest City Alum	7.80	24.04
Silver Star, Alum	6.90	31.88
Kenton, Alum	6.20	38.17
Patapsco, Alum	6.	40.08
Empire, Alum	5.80	34.26
Cook's Favorite, Alum	5.80	34.92
One Spoon Alum	5.75	58.68

With the foregoing explanation the study of these figures will readily give consumers a knowledge of the comparative value of the different brands. To illustrate with the per centages given the two powders before compared; the Royal containing 11.8 parts of leavening gas to 10.5 in Price's, its excess of strength is 1.3 in 10.5, or 12.4 per cent. Royal is, therefore, 12.4 per cent. stronger, as well as 71 per cent. purer, than Price's, etc. The relative strength and purity of the powders can be computed in like manner.

a man for groaning when he has Rheumatism or Neuralgia. The pain is simply awful. No torture in the ancient times was more painful than these twin diseases. But—oughtn't a man to be blamed if, having Rheumatism or Neuralgia, he wont use Ath-lo-pho-ros, when it has cured thousands who have suffered in the same way? It has cured hundreds after physicians have pronounced them incurable.

"The skill of five physicians could not cure me of Rheumatism which had settled in the hips, neck and shoulders. So intense was the pain that sleep was almost impossible. The first dose of Athlophoros gave me relief, and the third enabled me to sleep for four and a half hours without waking. I continued its use, and am now well." REV. S. H. TROYER, New Albany, Ind.

A Boon

To mankind, said a member of the State Medical Society of Ga., at one of its meetings, "and the prescription ought to be given to the medical fraternity for the benefit of the Profession, for as such combination exists in the Pharmacopeas as that of Simmons Liver Regulator." The late THOS. H. POWERS, of Philadelphia, America's greatest chemist, asserted "it was like the discovery of Dover, in his celebrated Dover's Powder, it could not be improved, and it was wonderfully strange that the combination had never been made in an officinal form."

L. M. HINTON, M. D., Washington, Ark., says: "No other remedy within my knowledge can fill its place. I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectually move the Liver to action and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive powers."

Symptoms such as bitter or bad taste in the mouth; pain in the back, often mistaken for Rheumatism; sour stomach; loss of appetite; bowels alternately costive and lax; headache; loss of memory, with a painful sensation of having failed to do something which ought to have been done; debility; low spirits; a thick yellow appearance of the skin and eyes; a dry cough often mistaken for Consumption, indicate Liver disease, and if not regulated in time great suffering, wretchedness and death will often ensue.

Price $1. Sold by all Druggists. Prepared by J. H. ZEILIN & Co., Philadelphia, Pa

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "gone-ness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating remedy. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and bodily health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURE," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.

Sold by Druggists, at $1.00, or Six Bottles for $5.00.

French and American Newspapers.

Brander Matthews has in the Century an illustrated article on "Parisian Newspapers," which he begins as follows: "One of the most characteristic street cries of London and New York is never heard in Paris, nor is one of the most picturesque figures in the streets of London and New York ever seen in the streets of Paris, for in France the noisy and pertinacious newsboy is unknown. The functions of this unstable disseminator of intelligence are filled in Paris by the staid old dame, who sits at the receipt of custom in a kiosque. A Parisian kiosque has nothing oriental but the name. It is a little sentry-box of glass, just large enough to shelter the newsvender from the changeable weather of the French capital. On a little stand in front of the kiosque are tiny heaps of countless newspapers of the city, and on strings on each side are pendent numbers of the chief illustrated journals, artistic and comic. These kiosques are scattered along the boulevards, and from them the Parisian buys his Figaro in the morning and his Temps at five in the afternoon.

"This difference of attitude between the hurrying American, who has to have his newspapers brought to him in haste hot from the press, and the leisurely Frenchman, who is content to pick up his paper when he goes abroad—this difference is far more than external; it is essentially typical of the French journal and the English or American newspaper. For one thing, the French journal is not a newspaper in the American sense of the word—and of a truth it does not pretend or desire to be. The Figaro now and again make a ludicrous claim to the ubiquitous omniscience of the London Times or the New York Herald, but this is not to be taken seriously. The fact is that while the primary quality of a good English or American daily paper is news, the primary quality of a good French paper is not news, but criticism—criticism of politics in the first place, of course, and, in the second, criticism of commerce, of law, of finance, of science, of art, of literature, and of the drama. The aim and ideal of the best French editors is to present not so much the minor details of a fact, but the best possible opinion on the fact. Of mere brute news, minute particulars of scandals, crimes, and horrors, such as we here in America have dumped upon our breakfast-table every morning, with all the accompanying repetition and accumulation of uninteresting facts—of all this the reader of the Parisian journal sees little or nothing. The childish or unintelligent thirst to know what has happened, regardless of the importance of the event, has not yet been developed in France by the rivalry of scrambling editors; and it may be asserted without fear of contradiction that even if they could have it without cost and without trouble, French editors would refuse to print most of the trivial trash which cumbers the columns of even the foremost American papers.

"It is not that some of Parisian papers do not print trivial trash, and trash worse than trivial; the difference is rather in aim, the French editor, thinking first of criticism and the American editor only too often thinking of mere news—first, last, and all the time. Yet the leading principle which should govern even in news-gathering is better understood in Paris than in London or New York. This is the principle which has aptly been called the 'perspective of news,' and by virtue of which a trifling accident in the immediate neighborhood is of more importance than a great calamity a thousand miles away. As Villemessant concisely put it, 'A dog run over on the Boulevard des Italiens' is of more consequence to the Figaro than an earthquake in Australia. If we substitute for the injured dog a picture exhibited or a new play produced, we have just the things about which the Parisian papers give the most news."

Was Honesty the Best Policy?

The Listener is reminded by a story in the local columns of a morning paper of the discouragements which sometimes attend the doing of a good deed. The story is of a small boy who found a $2.50 gold piece among some pennies that had been given him in change, and took the coin back to the "young lady cashier" who had given it to him. The young woman promptly covered it back into her treasury, and, ignoring the small boy, "at once entered into a discussion with a masculine associate as to how the piece came in the cent compartment of the money-drawer." As the honest boy was not interested in the question how it came there, he withdrew. That was all. "Hoc fabulæ docet," if it "docet" anything, very much the same thing that one did of which the Listener had a certain knowledge.

A very small boy of his acquaintance, a very honest small boy indeed, found that a dog that had strayed into the neighborhood was advertised for. He gathered up the dog and took him to the advertised address, proud in the consciousness of having done a good deed. As soon as he had entered the place, which was a store, the proprietor seized the dog and kicked the boy out of the store, accompanying the physical indignity with: "Get out, you little thief! I'll teach you to steal my dog!" The boy came home with tears in his eyes. "I shall never, never take home another dog," was the lesson that he had learned from his experience.

Another friend of the Listener—a man this time—took back a gold dollar that he found among some pennies and felt that he must have received at a certain place. "I will take your dollar," said the gruff cashier, thrusting it promptly into a box, "but I doubt very much whether any mistake has been made!" He did not take the trouble to explain what right he had to the dollar if no mistake had been made; he simply wanted the money and the credit for infallibility in making change too. How much does the world gain, by the way, by everybody's assumption that everybody else either does not know very much, or else is a rascal?—Boston Transcript.

Increase of Tea Production.

The statistics of the export of Japanese tea show that while the annual quantities sent abroad (mainly to the United States) have rapidly increased, the prices are still more rapidly diminishing. In 1859, the first year Japan was opened to foreign trade, the export was only 20,000 pounds, while in 1878, the last year for which the comparative statistics are given, it reached 22,500,000 pounds. For the most part the increase was a steady and regular one, showing few and trifling fluctuations. Not so, however, the prices. In 1866 the average price per picul (133⅓ pounds) was $23, in 1869, $30, 1870 $32, 1871, $38, 1872 $37, and then it declined until in 1878 it was only $18, or less than half that of 1872. As in China, the cause of this enormous decline in value is depreciation in quality; the tea-growers, being anxious to get the leaf rapidly and in as large quantities as possible to the market, do not give it the time and care required in the delicate operation of producing high quality tea. From a report made by the Assam Secretariat to the Government of Bengal it appears that in 1886 there were in the Brahmapootra and Surma valleys 883 tea gardens of over 934,000 acres, of which only an area of 204,000 acres was under actual cultivation. One-sixth of this area was added in the last four years. The total yield was 61,000,000 pounds. The first sample of Assam tea reached Mincing Lane in 1837, when, according to the Pioneer 438 pounds were sold at 19 shillings per pound. In 1886 37,000,000 pounds came from the Brahmapootra valley and 24,000,000 pounds from the Surma valley, being at about the rate of 360 pounds an acre.

Thatched Roofs in the South.

Where shingles are scarce or too dear, says a Louisiana paper, roofs could be thatched with sedge grass as an excellent substitute for shingles on out-buildings. Sedge grass sometimes grows four or five feet high, the straw is stiff, and the tops made up of small branches and twigs well adapted to such purposes. It is said that a good thatched roof of sedge grass set at an angle of 45 degrees will shed water and last for fifteen or twenty years. Tie the bundles of sedge grass up with waxed twine or tarred twine, the butt to be larger than a man's wrist. Nail lathing on the rafters eighteen inches apart. The first row of sedge bundles for the eaves should be laid butts down, the butts nailed with ten-penny nails to the lathing. All the others should be butts up. Lay the bundle on the lathing, knot on the twine up, and there should be three inches of loose twine left on this knot when binding. Drive a ten-penny nail near the knot through the bundle into the lathing, and before sinking it too deep with the hammer take two half hitches around it with the three inches of spare twine. When completed put saddle boards on top, and the roof is complete—warmer in winter than shingles, cooler in summer, and nearly as lasting as shingles if the work is well done.

The Boers in Africa.

Some think that they are excellent pioneers in a new country. They advance into native territories, killing the people by thousands, enslaving women and children, robbing them of all their lands and cattle, and occupying their country, with no ulterior benefit to themselves or others, but merely as a field for further cruelties and spoliation of native races, so that the country may be cleared of them, but not for civilization or improving the country, because they leave a dark spot wherever they settle from the ruthless cruelties they perpetrate upon unoffending and innocent people. Are they, then, good pioneers? All the sophistry in the world cannot make it right. To murder, enslave, and rob innocent human beings living on their own lands, who have done no harm, and have as much right to live and enjoy their own as any other people, black or white, that they should be so ruthlessly treated by men who profess Christianity and to be a God-fearing people is an anomaly and cannot be tolerated by a just and upright people like the British nation. The English people have hitherto been looked upon as friends and protectors of the natives, and as one of them I felt proud of my country. But since the Transvaal rebellion and its retrocession the Englishman is ashamed to travel in the country to be subjected to the taunts of the chiefs and people at the boasted honor of England.—"Twenty-Five Years in a Waggon."

A purgative medicine should possess tonic and curative, as well as cathartic properties. This combination of ingredients may be found in Ayer's Pills. They strengthen and stimulate the bowels, causing natural action.

Perhaps no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. While not immediately fatal it is among the most distressing, nauseous and disgusting ills the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cure of chronic catarrh by any of the multitude of modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

A Pair of Red Boots.

Among the Tartars of the Ukraine boots of red leather are generally worn. This fact gave rise to a form of torture practiced, as an act of revenge, by the banditti who formerly infested the region. The victim's skin was cut round the upper part of his legs, and then torn off by the feet.

Some years ago the chief of a desperate gang of robbers became so troublesome that a large reward was offered for his capture. A Russian soldier managed to secure the robber and to hand him over to his commander.

Instead of being executed, the robber was set at liberty. He had amassed wealth and was able to pay the commander a large sum of money to release him.

One day, shortly after the capture, the soldier was surprised to receive a visit from the robber chief.

"You caught me once," said he to the soldier, "but before you set out upon another expedition in search of me I will give you a pair of red boots for the journey."

Having uttered this terrible threat, the robber escaped. The soldier, knowing if he gave a chance the threat would be executed, and having no confidence in his commander's honesty, determined to take the administration of justice in his own hands.

He pursued the robber, and after several days tracked him to a cave. Entering with cocked pistols in his hands, he found the robber chief.

"You promised me," said he "a pair of red boots; I have come to be measured for them!" and then shot the chief dead on the spot.—Youth's Companion

Almost miraculous are some of the cures accomplished by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In the case of R. L. King, Richmond, Va., who suffered for 17 years with an aggravated form of scrofula, Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected astonishing results.

Adventures in Morocco.

We had a great excitement one afternoon in the bazaar—a fight between Woodville's and Boulnois' horses—which nearly ended disastrously for the former. It is the great drawback to Moorish horses, their propensity to fight. It was a fearful sight to see the beasts pawing one another in the air and in the narrow, crowded bazaar where no one could approach to stop them. However, almost miraculously it seemed, it ended without loss of life. It was amusing riding through the streets to hear the curses which little boys, sometimes even grown men, used to heap upon our heads. "May Allah burn your grandfather and grandmother!" they used to say; but somehow we thought that these reiterated prayers of Allah for this purpose could have much effect, so we used only to laugh at them. Now and then, though, a Moor got his ears well boxed for it by soldiers, and on one occasion by one of us, when a strong, young European might have been seen seated on the prostrate body of a shereef, and saying in perfect Arabic: "You burn my parents, will you?" —bang. "You'll call me 'haloof!'" (wild boar) —bang. "I'll teach you to speak to Christians like that!" —bang. I don't think that Moor would have breath enough left in him to curse again for many a long day. This, however, was not in Morocco, but in a town on the coast.—Illustrated London News.

Martyrs to Headache

Seek relief in vain, until they begin to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Then they regret the years of suffering they might have escaped had they tried this remedy earlier. The trouble was constitutional not local; and, until Ayer's Sarsaparilla did its effective work as an Alterative and Blood Purifier, they were compelled to suffer.

The wife of Samuel Page, 21 Austin st., Lowell, Mass., was, for a long time, subject to severe headaches, the result of stomach and liver disorders. A perfect cure has been effected by Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frank Roberts, 737 Washington st., Boston, says that he formerly had terrible headaches, and until he took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, never found any medicine that would give Permanent Relief.

"Every Spring, for years," writes Lizzie W. DeVeau, 293 Fifteenth st., Brooklyn, N. Y., "I have had intolerable headaches. I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla last March, and have not had a headache since that time."

"I suffered from headache, indigestion, and debility, and was hardly able to drag myself about the house," writes Mrs. M. M. Lewis, of A st., Lowell, Mass. "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has worked a marvelous change in my case. I now feel strong and well as ever."

Jonas Garman, Esq., of Lykins, Pa., writes: "For years I have suffered dreadfully, every Spring, from headache, caused by impurity of the blood and biliousness. It seemed for days and weeks that my head would split open. Nothing relieved me till I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has cured me completely."

When Mrs. Genevra Belanger, of 24 Bridge st., Springfield, Mass., began to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, she had suffered for some years from a serious affection of the kidneys. Every Spring, also, she was afflicted with headache, loss of appetite, and indigestion. A friend persuaded her to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which benefited her wonderfully. Her health is now perfect. Martyrs to headache should try

EPPS'S COCOA

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half pound tins by grocers, labeled thus: JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

LOCAL NEWS.

Col. J. B. Dodge, of Warsaw, is quite ill.

J. B. Buess, of this city, was at Muncie Saturday.

The city council will meet to-morrow night in regular session.

There were sixteen deaths reported to the city undertakers last week.

The roads are very rough through the city and no pleasure riding was indulged in yesterday.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Mollett took place yesterday afternoon from the Salem Reformed church.

The usual amount of Sunday driving was not indulged in yesterday on account of the bad condition of roads.

There are five candidates already announced for county treasurer on the republican ticket in Kosciusko county.

The funeral of the little child of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Merix took place this afternoon from their residence, No. 41 Pine street.

Mr. Charles Noll arrived from Chicago Saturday evening in response to a telegram announcing the death of his father, Mr. Martin Noll.

An intoxicated man on Berry street, who was so drunk that he could hardly keep on the sidewalk, attracted considerable attention yesterday afternoon.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kayser died Saturday at the home of the parents, No. 181 Broadway. The funeral took place this afternoon from the Emanuel Lutheran church.

Mr. George Bradley, the accomplished tenor, leads the singing at the Sunday afternoon meetings of the railroad department of the Young Men's Christian association. He is devoted to the cause and always at his post.

The Warsaw Daily Times says: "Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Creighton, of Fort Wayne, came over to this place yesterday on a visit to relatives and friends. They are looking well, but have a slight attack of the California fever, we understand.

Capt. John B. Runyan, formerly postmaster of Warsaw, has announced himself as a candidate for county treasurer on the republican ticket in Kosciusko county. He was defeated in the nominating convention for the same position a few years ago.

Mrs. D. P. Bowers, the actress, who appeared at the Temple this season, retired from the stage last week. Her last appearance was at the Grand Opera house, in St. Louis, after which the company started for New York, where they will disband. Mrs. Bowers made her debut at the Park theatre, New York, in 1846, being then Miss Elizabeth Crocker.

Mrs. Langtry's individual profits for the current season will probably come well up to the top figure of any single star, in spite of the fact that she has an expensive company. Booth and Barrett will undoubtedly have the largest receipts ever known for any single combination. Henry Irving will average as much and perhaps more than ever. He has broken one or two records already, but the most important is that of the largest amount ever taken for a dramatic performance in the Boston theater—$4,700 at the matinee last Saturday. Edwin Booth and Frank Chanfrau have both played to larger houses in the same theater, but not to so much money.

The Mrs. Potter freak has thoroughly established the "fad" among society ladies in New York of going upon the stage, either as amateurs or even in a professional capacity. Thus it turns out that the place of Adele Belgrade in "Paul Kauvar" is to be filled by a society debutante, a Mrs. Gibbs, from a New Jersey town, who is heralded as a rich woman. It is said that refined "supers" are a drug in the New York theatrical market at the presen time. In Fanny Davenport's "La Tosca" two daughters of a wealthy Brooklyn sugar refiner are to appear as choristers, and both Mrs. Langtry and Mrs. Potter have not scrupled to give such gushing aspirants a chance. Mrs. Potter is a coming attraction at the Temple.

The hotels did a poor business yesterday.

Mayor Muhler sent two tramps to jail to-day.

John McGuire, of Jackson, Mich., is in the city.

W. J. Beach, of Toledo, Ohio, was in the city yesterday.

H. S. Rodebeaver, of this city, was at Muncie Saturday.

Mr. A. D. Cressler went to Indianapolis this morning.

The county commissioners met to-day as gravel road diretors.

Mr. and Mrs. McConnell returned this morning from St. Louis.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Heine is very sick.

Mr. Louis Wolf, the dry goods merchant, is at New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mohr returned from Detroit Saturday night.

The Pittsburg car shops are rushing the building of gondola cars.

The thermometer hovered around zero at the depots this morning.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kayser was buried this afternoon.

The news around the shops this morning was very dull and uninteresting.

T. J. Logan, the stenographer, is reporting a case in the circuit court to-day.

The street car drivers have a cold and disagreeable occupation this kind of weather.

Mr. Sam. B. Sweet, who spent Sunday in this city, returned to Indianapolis this morning.

The funeral of Mr. Martin Noll from the St. Mary's church, this morning, was very largely attended.

A letter from City Clerk Rockhill, who is under treatment at St. Louis, Mich., reports much improvement in his health.

Wm. W. Orrock, of Glasgow, Scotland, who has been in the city for a few days, went to Lafayette this morning.

Thomas McCaffrey has taken out a permit to build a two story frame house on lot 20, Johnson's addition, to cost $800.

Mr. O. B. Wiley, the county surveyor, has been very ill and confined to his home for a week past. He is able to be out to-day.

Mayor Wilson, of Logansport, has issued a proclamation against the gambling rooms and every faro and poker house is closed.

The Young Ladies' society of the Emanuel's Lutheran church, celebrated the fourth anniversary of their organization last evening.

Fred. J. Heingartner, of Canton, O., spent Sunday in the city the guest of his aunt, Mrs. Savilla Heingartner, of West Main street.

The tour of the railroads was a bitter cold one this morning and the wind whistled around one's ears in an entirely too familiar manner.

The Nickel Plate road has a full blooded Pottawatomie chief employed as a traveling stock agent, and it is said that he is a very successful rate slasher.

The firemen were called out to a harmless chimney blaze at Charley Borneman's residence, corner of Harrison and Lewis streets, yesterday morning.

At Lexington, Ky., the other day, four Strathmore colts sold at an average of $890 each. The famous horse is now owned the Rockhills, Bash and Fleming, in this city.

The "Immortal J. N." fell while alighting from a train at Paulding recently, and was severely cut about the head. It is supposed that he "assumed the pressure."

The Wabash will place a fast train on their road next week, leaving this city at 1:50 p. m., that will make the run from Toledo to Kansas City, a distance of 662 miles, in twenty-three hours without any change of cars.

The young clerk of the Commercial house, who skipped out last week with Sergeant Clifford's money, also took an overcoat belonging to Harry Hays, a machinist in the Bass works, who boards at the hotel. The young rascal has so far escaped arrest.

Mr. W. E. Shields, a printer formerly employed in this city, but now in the government printing office, at Washington, was married on St. Valentine's day to Miss Rebecca W. Crawner, of Brightwood, a suburb of Washington. Mr. Shields folks reside at St. Marys, Ohio.

Miss Julia Marlowe, whose stage experiened began as "Sir Joseph Porter" in the Juvenile "Pinafore" company, has attracted attention at Detroit, as an actress of unusual promise, her "Parthenia," Rosalind" and "Juliet" being hailed by critics as evidence of a high rank of excellence within her attainment.

The Allen county delegates to the Auburn republican convention held a meeting Saturday and decided to present the name of Will Wilson as delegate to the national convention from the Twelfth congressional district. Allen county has twenty-seven votes out of eighty-five at this convention. The other asparants for delegate honors are: State Senator James E. Drake, of Lagrange; Captain Hi. Iddings, of Noble; John Somers, of DeKalb; Dr. Rerrick, of the Lagrange Standard, and W. H. Kinsely, of Columbia City.

Sol D. Bayless lodge, F. and A. M., meets to-night.

Judge Allen Zollars, of the supreme court, is in the city.

Mayor Muhler sent an old toper over the road this morning for drunkenness.

Mart Mouper has purchased the barber shop of Fred Fritschler, on West Main street.

Mr. Robert Ogden, the plumber, has been divorced from his wife, Wilhelmina Ogden, who now lives at Huntington. Judge O'Rourke gave the decree.

Mrs. Joe Evans, of Defiance, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Lucy Phillips, in this city.

Mr. Mart Nierman, the popular young cigarmaker, formerly with the B. & O. cigar factory, will soon wed Miss Jennie Yates, the charming daughter of Wabash Engineer Yates, of South Broadway.

Last night Officers Lee and Lapp made a raid on the social apartments at Adam Bopp's saloon, on Barr street, and arrested Minnie Harrod, who was injudiciously toying with the affections of two strangers. The trio gave bail and departed in peace.

The machinery at the new Berghoff brewery will be set in motion next Wednesday and in two weeks the work of brewing will begin. The house has a capacity of 40,000 a year, without doubling up on the output, and to-day they received fifty bales of hops direct from Mayence, Germany.

Wm. F. Reitze and others have sold lot 117, Rockhill's addition, to the Fort Wayne Homestead Loan and Trust company for $2,200; Abraham Sweeney has sold lot 199, Hamilton's fourth addition, to Ernest Scheiman, for $1,800; Frank W. Dunham has sold ro Wash McNamara, lot 98, Lasselle's addition, for $510.

Mr. Harry Becker, a popular young druggist of Chicago, is in the city visiting Miss Rose Schlessinger, of West Jefferson street. THE SENTINEL announced the engagement of these young people some time ago. Mr. Becker will remain in the city until Wednesday and attend a masked ball that is to be given in his honor to-morrow evening at the Standard hall.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger preached a great sermon at the Cathedral yesterday morning and with truth, force and logic he inveighed against blasphemy, profanity and cursing, vices so prevalent in our day. The bishop pictured how terrible was the modern custom of calling on God to curse some one, or something, what a demoralizing effect this blasphemy has on the family or the community, and what a blighting, fearful practice it was to wish ill to mankind in God's name which should alone be used reverently and for good. His words are timely and will lead to fruitful results, for no one can doubt that profanity has grown of late years to an alarming and disgusting degree.

JAKE HISER.

He Spoils Doc. Sullivan's Elopement with Mrs. Hiser.

Jake Hiser was the central figure in a dramatic scene last night. His wife does not evince a desire to cleave to him and planned an elopement with one Doc. Sullivan, who also has a wife and family.

Mr. Hiser keeps a saloon on Main street, and some one gave him a friendly tip that Mrs. H. was going to fly with her lover. He repaired to the family fireside and met the gay deceiver. Pulling an ugly revolver from his clothes he made Sullivan get down on his knees and beg for life.

Mrs. Hiser was also compelled to suppress her longings for the doctor and pomise better things.

Then Mr. Hiser led the intruder out and sent three or four shots into the air to hasten his exit.

This called the police and the explanation above followed while reporters wept bitter tears at the spoiling of a domestic tragedy.

An old story—Look at a human being when under the influence of that terrible torture, rheumatism. Trivial symptoms were neglected until the disease became established, whereas all the long suffering could have been prevented by the prompt use of Salvation Oil, costing only 25 cents a bottle at all drug stores.

Another Hotel Robbery.

Last night a stranger stopped at the Hedekin house and registered from Cleveland. He neglected to lock his room door and during his slumbers he says some one stole $25 from his vest pocket. He gave the case to the police who searched some of the suspected inmates without recovering the boodle.

REDLICK BROS.,
5 Keystone Block,

ECHOES OF THE RAIL.

Monday Morning Does not Come to the Front With a Very Interesting Budget of News.

The trains on the railroads were late yesterday.

There are only two more working days in this month.

The shop clerks are getting ready for their monthly reports.

Wm. Bartels, a moulder in the Bass works, has returned to duty again after his sickness.

Fred Bianch, the carpenter, has been sick at the Racine house in Bloomingdale for a few days.

The Horton manufacturing company turns out 125 corn planters and 100 washing machines every day.

Harry Hays a machinist in the Bass works, had his overcoat stolen from his boarding place a few nights ago.

James Lowe, the assistant master mechanic of the Alleghney City railroad shops, has been in the city for a few days.

The car of a freight train jumped the track on the Pittsburg road near Warsaw last night, and delayed some of the trains.

The boilers in the Pittsburg car shops have been placed in position and the works are now running with an increased capacity.

The frightful wreck at Etna Green was the theme of conversation in railroad circles yesterday. It was the worst the Pennsylvania company has had for years.

E. A. King has resigned his position in the draughting department of the Pittsburg shops to accept that of assistant under J. A. Graham, the general superintendent of the car shops.

Will Leonard, of Master Mechanic Potter's office, and J. H. Hobrock, jr., and Chas. Cherry, clerks in the Pittsburg shops, were at Chicago yesterday taking in the sights and seeing Langtry.

Tramps are now beginning to be seen around the depots and railroads in large numbers. The lazy fellows would rather beg than work and they do not hesitate to steal when an opportunity offers.

Peter Houslker was injured in the eye this morning by a piece of iron flying up and hitting him. The injury was a severe one, but he tied a bandage around the wounded optic and went to work again.

Wm. Eberhard, a moulder in the Bass works, fell and injured himself last Wednesday. He did not think at the time his injuries were very bad and continued working until Saturday evening. Yesterday, feeling pretty badly, he consulted a doctor and one of his ribs was found to be fractured. He is laying off this week and will not resume work again until he has perfectly recovered.

Dr. R. W. St. Clair tells how, a few years since, he was riding on an engine when he caught a cinder in his eye that caused the most excruciating pain. He began to rub the afflicted organ, when the engineer called out: "Let that eye alone and rub the other one. I know you doctors think you know it all, but if you let that eye alone and rub the other one, the cinder will be out in two minutes," persisted the engineer. The doctor began to rub the other eye and soon felt the cinder down near the inner canthus, and made ready to take it out. "Let it alone and keep at the well eye!" shouted the engineer. He did so for a minute longer, and, looking in a small glass, found the offender on his cheek.

A very prominent railroad official said yesterday that he didn't believe any sweeping changes among the officials of the Pennsylvania system would be made at the next annual election; that Mr. McCullough, first vice-president of the Pennsylvania company, who was getting along in years might retire; that for some time back Mr. McCullough's duties had from time to time been lightened. The gentleman added that he thought Mr. Roberts would be re-elected president. When asked if it wasn't a fact that Mr. Roberts was in poor health and threatened with paralysis he said: "Mr. Roberts has never been very robust, and it has been reported for several years that he was in poor health, but he continues to discharge the duties of president, and in my opinion will succeed himself at the next annual meeting."

Care for the Children

Children feel the debility of the changing seasons, even more than adults, and they become cross, peevish, and uncontrollable. The blood should be cleansed and the system invigorated by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Last Spring my two children were vaccinated. Soon after, they broke all out with running sores, so dreadful I thought I should lose them. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured them completely; and they have been healthy ever since. I do feel that Hood's Sarsaparilla saved my children to me." MRS. C. L. THOMPSON, West Warren, Mass.

Purify the Blood

Hood's Sarsaparilla is characterized by three peculiarities: 1st, the combination of remedial agents; 2d, the proportion; 3d, the process of securing the active medicinal qualities. The result is a medicine of unusual strength, effecting cures hitherto unknown. Send for book containing additional evidence.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make me over." J. P. THOMPSON, Register of Deeds, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Rev. T. J. Bacher, of the Grace Reformed church, preached an excellent sermon yesterday morning upon the subject, "The Child Mind, Its Capability and Culture." It was the first of a series that the reverend gentleman will continue for several Sunday mornings, and the sermons will meet with a favorable reception from his hearers. Rev. Bacher is an eloquent pulpit orator and the young Grace church is rapidly growing under his instructions.
